Lloyd,

College students plagiarize papers all the time. Most folks have no comprehension of copyright nor the fact that stealing from others is not correct. I believe he has most of this on his website (also a copy and paste).

Arguing is pointless. Ignorance is curable, stupidity is not.

yeah brian, and we need to get rid of certain elements so the topic will remain on topic.

why should someone answer a door after determining that the caller is someone they find unpleasent?

Wiseman is described in term that make him seem to pretty dumb (and if he is in fact Mr Slit as allleged he is pretty dumb) but it is a sisn of decent snese not to answer the door when someone unpleasent comes calling

I do likewise or if they are presistant enough I greet with the busness end of a shotgun, being a country boy these days the is more accepted than in most towns

Be kind to Robeson. His behavior is his way of dealing with his own problems. He believes in projecting his troubles upon strangers, quite the quirky way of dealing and providing himself with some sort of mental therapy. He's a control freak and member of the Civil Air Patrol who acts like he does for reasons known only to himself. He is a man who dislikes compromise, his ego is easily bruised, and one only needs browse his warblings over the years for such an illustration of how this blemish of a Radio Amateur. Robeson is never wrong, don't you know that by now?

ï¿½ï¿½Jerry Oxendine told me Robeson was an officer in the CAP and Robeson has confirmed this himself. This by itself wouldn't be an issue, but the fact he feels it important enough to put it out there in public and couple it with such behavior unbecoming of one who holds such a position makes his hypocrisy fair game.
ï¿½ï¿½It's plain to see why this country is hated more each day around the world. With leaders like we have and officers like Oxendine and Robeson in charge of anyone or anything, who are out there setting examples like they do and spoiling the good image of such civil/military endeavors and entities, it's no wonder this great country is having its image tarnished. Robeson is the worst type of American. He wraps himself in the flag and attacks those with whom he disagrees as opposed to attacking the actual subject matter/topic. Another "semi-qualified licensed" hammie who has much to learn regarding communications. He was taught Fields Communications and basic introductories regarding such, but as exampled, is illiterate when it comes to Discipline in Communications, knows nothing of Approaches of Communications, Relations, Negotiations and a host of other academia related to his chosen radio hobby that he never bothered to learn.
He and Oxendine are much alike. Zero tolerance for any views but their own myopic concerns.

I quote: "Should REC.RADIO.AMATEUR.POLICY be monerated??"

You probably mean "moderated." Your spelling will undoubtedly confuse both Woger and Markie, who are probably scouring Google at this moment in search of monerators. Woger will be convinced that the word comes from "moan" and will be breathing rapidly as he looks.

In any case, the question is moot. Reason: Because of the way that Usenet works, you can't moderate a group after it has been created. Instead, you have to create a new, moderated group.

You can try so-called retro moderation, where the moderator issues cancel messages to delete unwanted messages, but that's unlikely to work either. Most news servers completely ignore cancel messages because of past abuse. Those which don't, usually require you to have a PGP public key registered with them so that they can validate your PGP signed cancel messages. Unsigned and improperly signed cancel messages are ignored.

In short, your poll is meaningless, because rrap can NEVER be moderated. You need to start a new news group instead.

Electromagnetic radation has crossed electric and magnetic fields which 90 degree out phase with each other. That mean when E field max, H field it is zero. So EM radiation always unbalanced at every point along it path.

That why balun do no good and balun just snake oil for rubes.

Or how about the fact that radio waves travel at a velocity of C (C = 186,000 miles per second or 3.00 X 10^8 ms-1) or the fact that an electromagnetic wave is an electric and magnetic wave traveling at a right angle to each other. The magnetic part of the wave last longer then the electrical part, which ends. Or the fact that the third part of electromagnetic wave is called a geons (a gravitational wave).

For long time people like FCC use Pi in ham radio exams and they use Geneva value of 3.141592653. But why make Pi be such long number?
Why not use 3 and be over it?

Answer is FCC want things complecated to stay in power.

So we in campain to change Pi back to 3 just like Anglican church try set it in 1700s. Come to web sight and vote to change Pi back to 3.
If work together we can do it.

Precision?

So you're claiming that all numbers to the right of the decimal are insignificant digits?

I'm not a big fan of the Anglican church.

Would that explain the vacuum that exists between Woger's left and right ears?

Come on...this vapid clown has a difficult enough time spelling correctly much less presenting himself as one with an I.Q. much over room temperature.

That Celtic Cross on the door? It is a marker for the Pappa John pizza deliverymen so that they find the proper house. The rest of Woger's neighbors have KKK insignia on their doors.

Life is like that in the redneck town of Glendale, West Virginia.

Electromagnetic radiation: That form of energy which characterized by transversely oscillating electric and magnetic fields whic propagate at the velocity of C in free space. At a sufficient distance from the source, the electric field vector and the magnetic field vecor are at right angles to eachother, forming a right handed (coordinate) system.

C = 186,000 Miles per second or 3.00 X 10^8 mps-1

Geons: A graviational field in the form of small packets which also travel trasversely with an electromagnetic field.

BILLY SMITH STEPS ON HIS OWN DICK THUSLY:

English skills, quite ironically in <VfQHf.14581$rH5.8121@newsread2.news.atl.earthlink.net>:
"That's interesting there idiot. I bet you really did flunk high school math and probably elementary too. Oh thats right, wasn't that when was in Floriduh. Spelled Florida but the DUH is for your Dumb Ass."

"wasn't that when was in Floriduh" - Billy makes good fuck up!

Billy "shoots" himself in his palsied club foot once again in Message-ID: <Q0bJf.19641$vU2.7735@newsread3.news.atl.earthlink.net>:
"Roger, shots himself in the foot"

Billy the illiterate retard Smith screws up again, and his illiteracy is exposed. "It serves him right." in <hauKf.1410$S25.940@newsread1.news.atl.earthlink.net>:
"Deserves him right."

Billy "retard" Smith confesses to his generally accepted retarded
status in <LwpLf.2321$F56.2317@newsread3.news.atl.earthlink.net>:
"I'm a general retard. bwhahaha"

Billy "spelling champ of the general retards" Smith admits his bad hygiene but is still in denial about his English skills in

At VHF and up, wavelength become short enough that wires which conect chips together on PC board can radiate or can look like not a wire at all. That why modern PC board maker use transmission line theory to design traces on board. Otherwise it could mallfunction.

My new ham experimenter board have free computer programs which I wrote for PC board design stuff. They writen in C++ for OS-X but probaly work for other computers to. Need more programs for library so why not join and contribuite your stuff to ham library? any ham radio program welcome and not just PC board stuff but we only want ham programers right now because if can't program you are not real experimenter ham.

That NewsHunter reader is a piece of garbage if your posts with it are typical. You should find a different news reader or else learn how to configure NewsHunter before you embarrass yourself further.

You probably should move to a different reader anyway, because Apple is going to drop OS X and move to Windows with their new Intel based machines. Time Lords know this because we can monitor the tachyon flux currently being sent into the past by future Apple computers. Also, John Dvorak of Ziff-Davis and PC Magazine has predicted the move to Windows at http://pcmagazine.com/article2/0,1895,1923151,00.asp, and he is also a Time Lord. (Speaking of Time Lords, the SciFi Channel will start to show Dr Who every Friday evening at 9pm ET, starting tomorrow. It's probably too advanced for you, Tood.)

Wrong as usual, Taylorville Twat. BTW, Toad, you're LYING about getting your Extra. There is no application on file with the FCC ULS website on it.

Now go jack off to your shemales you love so.

<tune of troll, troll, troll your boat plays softly in background>

Simply because the ratio of the circumference of a circle to its' diameter is not three. A rough approximation is 3.14159265358979323846264338327950288419716939937510. I suppose I could go on as I did memorize it to 110 places during a study hall in high school, but a google search will turn up the number to a far higher number of digits, if necessary. Usually 4 or 5 places is sufficient.

Yep, nothing like simplicity. Except that it doesn't work :))

The FCC has nothing to do with it. They don't define irrational numbers such as e, pi, etc.

Try your troll somewhere else :))

If you think that would worry me, guess again.

How about no more multiple guess and make it fill in the blank (answers accurate to 4 places) for theory?

How about draw schematics?

Could consider raising Extra to 25 words per minute like the 1st class radiotelegraph license was. Oh, and no fill in blanks - perfect copy for one minute out of a five minute session.

I wouldn't suggest it as it would discourage new folks, but I'd be willing to take the above ....

Like yourself possibly, I am also from the "old school" of thought regarding amateur licensing. Way back when the FCC decided to lower the requirements for minimal CW copy, my first thought was something like "what a bunch of weak-weenies..." Come on, we don't need another Citizen's Band on HF. I have an old friend that is mentally retarded, and he could pass the 5 wpm morse test with no problem...his IQ is apx 80. Oh well, in the grand scheme of things, none of this even matters. Just had to post a short comment about this subject. Thank you for posting yours.

Yeah Newshunter Sucks, As for apple dropping it's OS system, I REALLY DOUBT THAT, the Mac OS X is a more stable system compared to the bug infested windows system. Unlike Windows which has bugs and operate with a central registery and DOS. Mac's don't have a registery and don't have all the bugs windows has. Macs also uses UNIX which is 10 times better then DOS.

Like I said you have no real concept of the idea of time or time travel, unlike me. So your ain't anything but a freaking pizza boy, if you to know how it can be done I'll be happy to tell you, timedork, BTW arccording to my satellite listing Doctor Who will NOT be on at 9pm on friday, it's the season finally of Battlestar Galactica, and SG-1 and Stargate Alantis.

Or very nearly so.

As it's Friday afternoon, I'm sure the Complete Buffoon (CB) who seems to speak Copious Bowlocks (CB) when it comes to matters scientific, will be along soon with his Chattering Balderdash (CB), in which he might explain a previous posting maintaining that electrons 'whizz about'.

On the other hand, he just might carry on ranting about the Copper's Boot (CB) and trying to make a Casus Bellum (CB) out of it. After all, Cui Bono (CB), as one might ask?

Cheery Bye (CB).

According to the U.S. Computer Emergency Readiness Team, Windows is much more secure than Linux/Unix. It reported 812 Windows vulnerabilities versus 2328 Unix/Linux vulnerabilities found during 2005. You can see their full report at http://www.us-cert.gov/cas/bulletins/SB2005.html#UnixLinux

That is U.S. Government proof that Unix systems are way more dangerous than Windows systems. I wouldn't trust OS X, because it is based on NetBSD which is just another buggy Unix system. No wonder Apple is moving to Windows.

> Like I said you have no real concept of the idea of time or time > travel, unlike me. So your ain't anything but a freaking pizza boy, if I have forgotten more about time than you will ever learn, and here's some proof:

I'm a Time Lord, and good friends with another Time Lord named Peter Lynds. Unfortunately, Peter released some of our private knowledge to the public, and his stunning revelations were discussed first at http://www.eurekalert.org/pub_releases/2003-07/icc-gwi072703.php and then later in most major media.

This has led to some anxiety for us, but fortunately the world doesn't want to hear his revelation that time isn't quantized. Our secrecy will ultimately be preserved, and no one but Time Lords will be able to travel back and forth through time.

And that includes you, you wannabe Time Lord.

Quite, - there is some wobble and skin effect.

With DC there is movement in one direction however the speed is in the orders of inches per hour so that's pretty much nil too IMHO ;-)

Right, whatever timedork, let me just say if you want to know how to REALLY time travel, read up on John Wheeler and read up on electromagnetic wave theory. And let just say this, you don't have to travel at 186,000 miles per second to time travel, you can be at rest.

382. Radio Hammery - The Weekly FAQ

What is Ham Radio?

It is becoming increasingly difficult to fly the flag for decency and for civilised behaviour in Radio Hammery. Even the Usenet newsgroups dedicated to the cause have degenerated into a hotbed of abusive onslaughts by those who ought to know better.
However, there still exists the fundamental basis on which Ham Radio is based, and that will never die. This FAQ ("What Is Ham Radio?") will be regularly published and will not be shouted or bullied down. It is important that those of a technical bent, who are the natural seed-corn of Radio Hammery
and who gravitate towards us to be the real novitiate, can still find us, (and know that we are still here), their fellows.

Please remember that this FAQ is a _POSITIVE EXHORTATION_ to you to exert yourselves to join our fraternity! (If you find otherwise, then perhaps you are already classing yourself in the mediocre groups of those who are criticised in the FAQ and from whom we _MUST_ dissociate? If so - it's never too late for a re-taxonomisation on your part - there's nothing elitist about us, and we welcome all those who are prepared to put themselves out in order to join our ranks!)

-----ooooo-----
So,.....What is Ham Radio?

Ham Radio is a technical pursuit for those who are interested in the science of radio wave propagation and who are also interested in the way that their radios function. It has a long-standing tradition of providing a source of engineers who are born naturals.

Ham Radio awakens in its aficionados a whole-life
fascination with all things technical and gives an all-abiding curiosity to improve one's scientific knowledge. It's a great swimming pool, please dive in!

This excitement causes a wish to share the experience
with ones fellow man, and shows itself in the gentlemanly traditions of Ham Radio.

Radio Hams are in a unique privileged position in that they can construct and operate their own equipment! No-one else has this privilege. Users, such as broadcasters, the po lice and armed farces, CBers and mobile phone users have to purchase ready-made gear. Manufacturers are not licensed to operate their gear. Radio Hams are qualified to design, build and then operate their own pieces of equipment. They do this with gusto, and also repair and modify their own equipment. This is a privilege well worth the effort to gain, and one to be jealously guarded.

The excitement that drives a Radio Ham starts with relatively simple technologies at first, perhaps making his own Wimshurst machine and primary cells. Small pieces of test equipment follow, possibly multimeters and signal generators. Then comes receivers and transmitters. It is with the latter that communication with like-minded technically motivated people takes off. The scope for technical development grows with the years
and now encompasses DSP and DDS. There is also a great deal of excitement in the areas of computer programming to be learnt and applied.

The technical excitement motivates Radio Hams to compete with each other to determine who has designed and manufactured
the best-quality station. This competitiveness is found in DXing, competitions and fox-hunts.

-----OOOOO----

However, beware! A Ham Radio licence is such a desirable thing to have that there are large numbers of people who wish to be thought of as Radio Hams when, in fact, they are nothing of the kind! Usually such people are a variation of the CB Radio hobbyist; they buy their radios off the shelf and send them back to be repaired; they are not interested in technical discussion
and sneer at those who are; they have no idea how their radios work inside and have no wish to find out;
they are free with rather silly personal insults;
they have not satisfied any technical qualification
and their licences prevent the use of self-designed-and-built equipment.

These CB types engage in the competitive activities
with their Cheque-Book-purchased off-the-shelf radios
in a forlorn effort to prove that they are Radio Hams.

No _REAL_ Radio Hams are deceived by such people!

-----ooooo-----

One infallible way to disambiguate the CB Radio Hobbyist from the _REAL_ Radio Ham is to solicit their view of the difference between CB Radio and Ham Radio. A Radio Ham will perceive Ham Radio to be a technical pursuit and will perceive CB Radio to be a social communications facility
no different in essence to a land-line telephone or a GSM mobile in the hands of a 6-year-old. Thus a Radio Ham could also hold a CB licence safe in the knowledge that such a licence says no more about him than having a land-line telephone, whilst continuing to regard Ham Radio as a separate technical pursuit.

A CB Radio hobbyist, on the other hand, sees no difference between a Ham Radio licence and a CB Radio licence. To him, they are sisters-under-the-skin. Wrongly, the CB Radio Hobbyist then tries to classify himself as the equal of the Radio Ham when, in fact, he is nothing of the kind. A sure sign of a CB Radio hobbyist is if he holds, or has ever held, a licence issued under the gangrenous degeneration that is the M3/CB Fools' Licence scheme.

Does she? Do you know the name of her boss?
There's been no letter. If there had been, it would have been crumpled and thrown away, imaginary friend of Wiseman. Nothing illegal took place. Nothing took place during working hours.

Somebody rang your doorbell. Nobody answered the door. No Roger Wiseman opened to state that anyone was trespassing. No one told anyone that they weren't welcome. You, as Roger's imaginary and invisible friend, can't speak for Wiseman in a legal sense. Of course if you happened to be at the Wiseman home on the evening we visited, you can feel free to come forward as Roger's only friend and corroborate his version of events.

Your credibility is on the line. The other things which you've claimed as lies turned out to be quite true. The property tax info which you claimed was a lie was easily confirmed by anyone viewing the Marshall County Assessor's web site. The photos which you said were lies turned out to be quite true. The visit which you said was a lie turned out to be very true. What are you now claiming as a lie?

All of the things which I stated I'd done, and which you claimed to be a lie, turned out to be true. It doesn't look like you're a very believable guy.

I'm going to go way out on a limb and guess that Mark Morgan doesn't have the disease which you claim he has and that he doesn't sell or make child pornography. I'm going to guess that Brian Burke hasn't done anything improper with any Boy Scouts. I'll bet those things are simply more perverse, lying filth from you.

You always underestimate people, Roger.

time for something funny for a change in RRAP:

Yesterday, a young Quebecker shut down the Washington DC Area's Capital Beltway at the height of mornin rush-hour by overturning his tractor-trailer rig loaded with wooden prefabricated stockade fence sections, which cascaded off of the overhead ramp -- which the overturned rig completely blocked -- onto the BMW of a lawyer for and vice-president of Marriott International, the global services-and-hospitality giant. The car was completely crushed and then hit from the rear by another car.

http://www.washingtonpost.com/wp-dyn/content/article/2006/03/02/AR2006030200695.html

The driver, Francois Veilleux, 23, of Quebec, was charged with "negligent driving and two other violations, offenses punishable with fines. Neither the rainy weather nor speed appeared to be factors in the incident, said Maryland State Police Sgt. Russell Newell", according to _the Washington Post_.

Veilleux says his load shifted on the tight curve of the ramp, which locally is well-known as a dangerous stretch of highway.

But high ranking officials of the Mormon Church -- which owns a nearby property adjacent to the Beltway, on which is sited the immense and impressive castle-like structure of the Mormon Temple -- aren't so sure.

"Look, it's clearly aimed at us. Marriott was started by a Mormon, became rich being owned and operated by Mormons, the firm and many of its stockholders and executive staff tithe greatly to the Church and this represents a huge financial impact as well as the loss of one of our own, and besides that Canuck was muttering something about 'Surrender Dorothy'. Bastard. Of course it was aimed at us. I just can't figure out how they worked out the timing. We're going to track this down and whoever is responsible, we are going to get them," said one official whose name could not be ascertained.

"Surrender Dorothy" is both a line from the famous movie "The Wizard of Oz" and a piece of grafitti emblazoned on a Beltway overpass in such a way that, as drivers pass under it heading westward, it appears to be floating in the sky above the gleaming white spires of the Temple. Quite commonly, from anywhere nearby, one can hear the sound of cackling, mostly coming from drivers who "get the joke".

"Between you and me," said an unnamed State Trooper who spoke only on the condition of anonymity, "I can't count the number of people I've had to pull over on that stretch of road for erratic driving. Some were just drunk, but most of them were laughing so hard they just couldn't see to drive. I've made quota, on that stretch of road, month after month for years at a stretch."

Despite constant repaintings of the overpass to erase the grafitti, "Surrender Dorothy" continues to re-appear. Nobody is certain how it is that the artists manage to do it; the overpass sidings are entirely inaccessible due to heavy fencing mandated by Federal law to prevent people from throwing heavy objects off of the overpass onto vehicles below.

Not surprisingly, the Mormon Church takes "Surrender Dorothy" as a personal insult, with some followers comparing it with hate-speech. One churchgoer, interviewed at the side of the Beltway below the overpass, was asked "How exactly can you compare a phrase from a famous family friendly film with hate-speech?" He appeared to be lost in thought and then was able to say only "well, it's just not right" and then screamed "stop laughing, it's not funny, dammit!" at a wildly weaving passing sedan full of tourists.

Mormons once suffered extreme oppression and harassment for their religious beliefs, and are a bit jumpy about real or perceived slights to their faith.

He is... that's why he probably does a cut and paste posting the same stuff every weekend rather than post anything interesting. One is also beginning to think either that or he has a newsgroup bot automatically posting his

Some doctors recommend a moderate amount of alcohol to reduce high blood pressure. Make it red wine and you can reduce your cholesterol at the same time ;-)

Of course, too much alcohol isn't a good thing, it can lead to long term brain damage and all sorts of mental problems.

I guess I should have had to learn to shoe a horse before I was allowed to drive a car.

As a ham, CW should not be required to use HF, however, the CW portions should be CW only, and not shared with other weak-signal data modes. Those that want to use CW should be allowed to ride their horse without having to step over the other non-CW users. .-.-.-

I love to pop my pimples
It's what I like to do
I love to pop my pimples
As I drink my Mountain Dew

People always tease me
About my zit filled face
They say I make them queasy
It makes me feel out of place

I love to squeeze my pimples
and when the pus is about to explode
I aim it at mean people
and laugh and yell,"Here, have a pus load"

I love to pop my pimples
It's what I like to do
It really helps pass the time
at my job in fast food

If a customer is mean to me
I know exactly how to get him back
I pop one of my many pimples
some special sauce for his Big Mac

So if you are ever mean
Remember the words that I have said
Because this zit faced loser
will pop some pus toward your head

I like hairs on my food
I like to vomit in my bed People think I'm crude cause I like to poke things that are dead

I like to urinate in my pants and then hop on a public bus
Then pop the boil on my butt
and squeeze out all the pus

I like to blow my nose on my sleeve
I like to cough up mucous and phlem
I like to do this in front of strangers
Then I like to stare at them

I like to take a dump
on my neighbor's brand new Saab and ask if he can tell that for lunch I had corn on the cob

Not to mention the fact you had to retest to keep your license because you were busted jamming 20 meters. Shall we post the letters again.

It will do no good. Woger will claim that he was "invited" to be retested.
He claims that since he originally tested via a VEC that Mr. Hollingsworth picked Woger at random. Of course the FCC letters to Woger are, according to Roger, mere "suggestions" and Roger, to this day, maintains that he did nothing wrong though the accusations in Riley's letters are plain to see. Roger continues to pick at definitions so as to salve his warning letters and retest requirements. Bottom line? Roger was forced to retest at the risk of having his Ham license rescinded. Roger HAD to retest. Period. It was that or lose his Ham license. Why? Because Roger caused malicious intererence on several occasions and he got caught.

And now the ugly little gnome is moving on to other nefarious activities, including posting filth over the names of others.
One has to feel pity for Woger. Look at him...the guy is a virtual Hermit...hides behind drawn blinds, hides behind multiple dialup accounts, will not answer the phone, is afraid to even go to his own front door!

Where were YOU at the hamfest, Wogie? Take Lloyd not to task when you were afraid to step into the front door.

Coward. Chicken Shit. Flatulent Poo-Poo.

A community of technically-motivated adults, discussing and promoting the technologies of radio communications and the natural phenomena that underly such communications?

A community of Citizens' Banders, acquiring Cheque-Book (CB) radio equipment without understanding the innards, and to whom the SWAAAAARRRRRING of a TWIG is a rite of passage typical of the nonsensical world of make-believe and superstition of the religionists? (Just how many of their magicians in a garb of white gowns are needed until the magic starts to work?!)

A community of Billies-No-Mates lacking the social graces and peer companionship of normal well-adjusted adults who go out of their way to entice young children into their closed shacks, and then deceive those children that somehow they are educationally equipped to be the technical equivalence of Heinrich Hertz despite that they cannot tell one end of a resistor from the other unless a crib sheet is present to spoon-feed them?

The FCC had written Roger Wiseman on March 29, 2000, advising him that it had been made aware of him interfering and jamming on 20 meters.

Special Counsel for Amateur Radio Enforcement,
Riley Hollingsworth
FCC 1270 Fairfield
Road Gettysburg, PA 17325

Dear Mr. Wiseman,

I find it hard to believe your assertion that this incident of jamming on 20 meters is an isolated occurrence. I have too many complaints on my desk about you for this to be a ï¿½one time affair.ï¿½ I have a strong feeling that this time is not the only time youï¿½ve let your emotions get the better of you and acted out in a juvenile manner. My personal opinion is that you have a lot of growing up to do. Generally when this kind of violation occurs I fine a licensee, however since youï¿½ve already stated that you are indigent and can not afford a fine, I will, pursuant to ï¿½97.519(d)(2), readminister your licensure exam. Rest assured if your misbehavior continues next time your license will be suspended.

I love to pop my pimples
It's what I like to do
I love to pop my pimples
As I drink my Mountain Dew

People always tease me
About my zit filled face
They say I make them queasy
It makes me feel out of place

I love to squeeze my pimples
and when the pus is about to explode
I aim it at mean people
and laugh and yell,"Here, have a pus load"

I love to pop my pimples
It's what I like to do
It really helps pass the time
at my job in fast food

If a customer is mean to me
I know exactly how to get him back
I pop one of my many pimples
some special sauce for his Big Mac

So if you are ever mean
Remember the words that I have said
Because this zit faced loser
will pop some pus toward your head

Then pop the boil on my butt
and squeeze out all the pus

I like to blow my nose on my sleeve
I like to cough up mucous and phlem
I like to do this in front of strangers

Have we reached this stage with the Cheque-Book (CB) radios now on sale?

Where the components are too small to attack with a soldering iron?

Where the complexity of individual components is too great for the 6-year-old licensee to comprehend?

Where even the tuning of antennae is automated?

Perhaps it is time to remove all aspects of technology from the exams that give access to Ham Radio, and substitute questions on magic, nonsense and superstition whether of the Christian, Muslim, Hindu or Buddhist traditions?

Is it time to give prominence to The Bishop as opposed to those who know that e^(-jwt) is not a function that decreases with increasing time?

Is the Radio Amateur no longer anything but a turnip-brained button pusher?

Perhaps a start could be made by Radio Amateurs, as a group, following the lead of the US authorities with regard to visitors visas, which in this case would involve expelling those who have ever been arrested. Re-admission would be limited to those who pass a searching interview of the 'vetting' type, undertaken at their own expense - perhaps with a retest as well. Those who have travelled on an A-class visa and who's first Amateur Licence was an A would of course be exempt from this procedure.

How many 6-year-old licensee had the intelligence to comprehend valve

The plural of antennas in electronics and radio antennas, antennae is

In the days when the Radio Society of Great Britain was a respected organisation and Radio Communications an equally respected journal (before one metamorphosed into the RSCB and the other into a BadCon), there was a skit, pubished around about 1970, intended as a joke, but perhaps that has become a truism. Can anyone locate the original?

It went along the lines of.....

1920.....Connect paper condenser C4 between Binding Post A and Binding Post B
1940.....Plug valve AC12/PEN into socket 3
1960.....Using heat-sink. solder OC170 screen to earthing tag
1980.....Solder VOGAD chip onto PCB
2000.....Plug UHF PCM TX/RX into socket J

WRONG! The plural of "antenna" is "antennae" and always has been.
It is not a biological matter, but an allusion to something that sticks out, "antenna" being the Latin for a yard-arm from the days of lateen sails.

Ignorance amongst the engineering community introduced the alternative, "antennas" but the correct and preferred plural is, and always has been, "antennae".

An intelligent person would know this, but someone who was either too lazy or too stupid, or both, etc, etc, and who _STILL_ has a callsign in the G8I-- series, perhaps not?

So, the Oxford English Dictionary is wrong then?

<quote>

antenna

/antenn/

• noun (pl. antennae /antennnee/) 1 each of a pair of long, thin sensory appendages on the heads of insects, crustaceans, etc. 2 (pl.
also antennas) an aerial.

— ORIGIN Latin, alteration of antemna ‘yard’ (of a ship’s mast).

</quote>

You didn't even get the Latin correct! As you said, an intelligent person would know this.....

This is the same chap who claimed that the word 'agenda' was not Latin, on the grounds that it was not in his Latin dictionary.

He had to be put right on that, too.

Your somewhat silly and infantile attitude suggests that the Childish Broadcaster (CBer) was a feature of the Britland radio scene some years before it became legalised.

Grow up.

Well, there is a school of thought that large scale integration actually makes it easier to understand the operation down to a functional level needed to repair a radio.

For, example, in a radio made from discrete components (bipolar transistors, JFETs, etc etc), you need to understand the operation of the radio to this level to be able to repair it. If the functional blocks are much larger, there is less need to understand operation to this detailed level to repair
it. Which is just as well, for those who never bothered to learn how, say, a JFET works.

Plus, of course, the younger generation tend to have better visual acuity and often more nibble fingers to tackle fiddly jobs. A bit of practice and they could out solder someone prone to dropping a soldering bit on the carpet and then running outside in a flap.

Be kind to Robeson. His behavior is his way of dealing with his own problems. He believes in projecting his troubles upon strangers, quite the quirky way of dealing and providing himself with some sort of mental therapy. He's a control freak and member of the Civil Air Patrol who acts like he does for reasons known only to himself. He is a man who dislikes compromise, his ego is easily bruised, and one only needs browse his warblings over the years for such an illustration of how this blemish of a Radio Amateur. Robeson is never wrong, don't you know that by now?

ï¿½ï¿½Jerry Oxendine told me Robeson was an officer in the CAP and Robeson has confirmed this himself. This by itself wouldn't be an issue, but the fact he feels it important enough to put it out there in public and couple it with such behavior unbecoming of one who holds such a position makes his hypocrisy fair game.
ï¿½ï¿½It's plain to see why this country is hated more each day around the world. With leaders like we have and officers like Oxendine and Robeson in charge of anyone or anything, who are out there setting examples like they do and spoiling the good image of such civil/military endeavors and entities, it's no wonder this great country is having its image tarnished. Robeson is the worst type of American. He wraps himself in the flag and attacks those with whom he disagrees as opposed to attacking the actual subject matter/topic. Another "semi-qualified licensed" hammie who has much to learn regarding communications. He was taught Fields Communications and basic introductories regarding such, but as exampled, is illiterate when it comes to Discipline in Communications, knows nothing of Approaches of Communications, Relations, Negotiations and a host of other academia related to his chosen radio hobby that he never bothered to learn.
He and Oxendine are much alike. Zero tolerance for any views but their own myopic concerns.

Don't try to make Mark the scapegoat for your printed scat. Yours is a

I've perused the posts and have found only a couple recent posts submitted

They're presently on 3.953 LSB, and as you correctly observed, the old fossil from the midwest is in there outgassing for 20+ minutes at a time like an relief valve on an old leaky power substation oil-filled transformer in 90°F heat, as per the usual. It does however make for better listening that WWCR which only plays Brother Stinkpot Stair thru the night as the only other alternative on shortwave.

Is "e^(-jwt)" a code for, "The membership of the RSCB"?

Insofar as it is "a function that decreases with increasing time"?

This astonishing statement was made by a council member of the RSCB, and if it were made upon the subjects of mathematics and/or electronics would indicate crass ignorance of those subjects. As, indeed, the RSCB is a CBer's organisation that has nothing whatsoever to do with Ham Radio, with mathematics, or with electronics, then it would seem that "e^(-jwt)" is, indeed, a code for, "The membership of the RSCB", as in, "e^(-jwt) is a function that decreases with increasing time".

It's funny. Most here do not think a license is something worth having if you have to work a little to have it.

Lucky them. They got the ARRL on their side.

If your issue is with the ARRL, why not take it up with them? If your troll comment is with other Hams, why bother?
And as for your "proposal"? It will go no further than the comments it has elicited in these newsgroups.

Brian, OM, now that you are once again paying to me attention, perhaps you would consider dealing with those questions from which you habitually run away with your tail betwen your legs?.....

1. What are the age-ranges for the M3/CB Fools' Licence?

2. Do you teach Morse Code yourself?

3. Why do you sneer about "Big K" and yet run away when challenged?

4. Did you cross a property boundary with your use of a Fullerphone?

5. Is it normal for a trainee teacher to flood the Internet with pornography?

6. Why do you deny your posting history of gratuitously offensive emails?

7. Why do you side-step questions 1 to 6 (and even this question 7)?

Wrong as usual, Lardass!

Here's the FCC letter he received (from Hap Holly's site when he posted such letters)

CERTIFIED MAIL--RETURN RECEIPT REQUESTED

Mr. Roger L. Wiseman

610 Glen Haven Avenue

Glendale, WV 26038-1302

SUBJECT: Amateur Radio license KC8JBO

Dear Mr. Wiseman:

Pursuant to Section 97.519(d)(2) of the Commission's Rules, 47 C.F.R. Section 97.519(d)(2), the Commission has the authority to re-administer any examination element previously administered by Volunteer Examiners (VE's). The Commission may either administer the examination itself, or under the supervision of a Volunteer Examiner Coordinator (VEC) or VE designated by the Commission.

Accordingly, we are requiring you to re-take the General Class Amateur Examination, (Elements 2, 3(A) and 3(B)) under the supervision of an American Radio Relay League Volunteer Examiner Coordinator. This examination must be completed on or before September 11, 2000. The required code speed that you must demonstrate is 5 words per minute.

Please be prepared to verify your current address and to present a photo identification. Pursuant to Commission rules, your license will be cancelled if you do not appear for re-examination. You will be granted an Amateur Radio license consistent with the elements you pass upon re-examination.

Sincerely,

W. Riley Hollingsworth

Special Counsel, Amateur Radio

Enforcement Bureau

Read everything closely. There were three letters sent.

The letters to both Wiseman and Tunder were a preemptive "warning" that did not allege any activities. That hardly qualifies as a warning in the context of someone having actually done something.

The letter with the warning in it ALLEGED interference, and warned of consequences.

The retest letter made no reference to interference; in fact gave no reason for requiring the retest. Such a request is part of the Volunteer Examining program. It could have been made for any number of reasons that may have had nothing to do with any of the addressee's actions. An investigation into the VE group that gave the test, would be a good example.

Only one letter was a warning referring to interference.

So, yes; if you are going to tell it, tell it straight.

The FCC rules are very specific, shit for brains:

Pursuant to Section 97.519(d)(2) of the Commission's Rules, 47 C.F.R.
Section 97.519(d)(2), the Commission has the authority to re-administer any examination element previously administered by Volunteer Examiners

The Commission may either administer the examination itself, or under the supervision of a Volunteer Examiner Coordinator (VEC) or VE designated by the Commission.

No, stupid:

Pursuant to Section 97.519(d)(2) of the Commission's Rules, 47 C.F.R.
Section 97.519(d)(2), the Commission has the authority to re-administer
any examination element previously administered by Volunteer Examiners (VE's).
The Commission may either administer the examination itself, or under
the supervision of a Volunteer Examiner Coordinator (VEC) or VE designated by the Commission.

It wasn't any reason in the retest letter other than that. You are too fucking stupid to even read what is right in front of you. It wasn't much of a "sanction", for Roger passed it and upgraded.

> And now the ugly little gnome is moving on to other nefarious activities,

Hey Dave, here you are posting under another name when you said you don't do such things. You are a liar. And, now, you can go clean out

Well I can ease your pain
And get you on your flabby feet again.
Relax, I'll need some cyanide first.
In the head you sure are whacked.
Can you snivel when it hurts?

There is no hair yours is receding
A dullard shit who smokes pot as well then.

Ok, You're just a little prick.
There'll be no more of your whaaaaaaaaah!
When you get that fat ass kicked.
Can you shut the fuck up?
I do believe it's working, good.
That'll keep you stuttering through your shitty show
Come on, fatty, it's time to go.

There is no decent pay you are receiving Nobody leaves a tip, pizza delivery career on the horizon.
Your stupidity only comes through in waves.
Your lips move but I can't hear what you're saying.

"backpedalling" - "Backpedaling" is what Lardass does a lot of.
"Maybe two years back" - Mongolloyd speak.
"outted" - Lardass Lloyd's illteracy at work.
"I've riddled Woger for years as Arf! Arf!" - (Mongolloyd is Arf!Arf!)
"self esteme" - One thng is for sure, Lardass has it..."low self esteem," that is.
"short comings" - Lardass has many, many "shortcomings."
"yahoo" - Lardass always goes into the "Yahoo!" gay chat rooms.
"The truth hurts you see" - So does reading your mangling of the English language, Lardass.
"His stupidity can not be disguised for long." - Lardass' stupidity "cannot" be disquised at all.
"entireity" - Lardass is the embodiment of stupidity in its' "entirety."
"bothe" - Lardass is "both" stupid and retarded.
"got hime" - Lardass has got "him" a case of the dumbass!
"evelope" - Mongolloyd pushes the stupidity "envelope" to the max.
"chiicken" - Lardass Lloyd should eat more "chicken" instead of leftover pizzas then he wouldn't be obese.
"dont" - "Don't" ever improve your English skills, Lardass!
"likign" - Huh? More Mongolloyd Ebonics.
"you ignorant spawn of satin" - Lardass ironically confesses his love of wearing lace!
"powerfull" - Mongolloyd's brain cell isn't "powerful" enough to light a christmas light.

"heresay" - Mongolloyd is a fucking idot, and that's no
"hearsay."
"glas" - Lardass Lloyd never uses a "glass" to drink his sticky protein.
"freind" - Dicksucking Davies hasn't got a "friend" in the world.
"yu" - Lardass, "you" really should've gotten a better education!
"Got Brother Stair tuned in here to listen to while sleeping tonite!" - Mongolloyd fucks up again!
"I am not a retrard" - Oh, yes, you are, Lardass!
"Got you in another lie!" - We've "caught you" in another fuckup, Dumbass Davies!
"I am not mentally challenged! I have some pontential." - Mongolloyd is in denial about his imbecility and has the "potential" to become an even bigger jackass!
"did'nt" - Mongolloyd "didn't" ever pass Spelling.
"soon all your asses are belong to sherrif" - Mongolloyd fantazises about having sex with his local "sheriff"...
"shure" - We are "sure" you are a fucking moron, Llardass Lloyd!!
"proxie servers" "conecting" - Mongolloyd used "proxy servers"
when he "connected" to spam Josh's board.
"enfrocement" - Mongolloyd also fucked up when he spoofed caller ID's and spammed boards, and now law "enforcement" is watching him.
"apoligize" - Mongolloyd's parents should "apologize" for ever siring such a mentally ill retard.
"meagre" - Mongolloyd's "meager" brain can't comprehend English.
"goten" - If only Mongolloyd would've "gotten" an education!
"Prepositioned" - Mongolloyd always gets "propositioned" by nouns and pronouns!
"temting" - Mongolloyd is as "tempting" as a root canal.
"accept" - Mongolloyd use the wrong word in the wrong place again!
"normaly" - "Normally" Lardass would be passed out from two Bud Lites by now
"red head" - Little Red is shoving his big ole black dickhead in Lardass' fat piehole.
"Aflack" - Mongolloyd fucks up yet again..www.aflac.com

Mongolloyd make good spells!...

It's not the right letter, dumbass. Riley wouldn't write such a letter.
It wasn't even an annoyance, retesting isn't much of a sanction when the person passes and upgrades, now is it? It's on par with Riley writing to another ham and said he wasn't using the correct phonetics that one time, or writing and saying the ham was misusing the 2 meter calling frequency.

Because recording edited. Start of it chopped off to make lie out of what left. Even what Kool Aid drinker Dave say is lie. Rielly say he have fox security call local police because of call.

Kool Aid drinkers want to believe opposite becaues first of all they hate fox. All else follow from that. They try so hard pin lies on Reilly and fox that they look like kooks they are.

Funny how you talk and obsess over it. But didn't one of your ex's say that you like those shemale pics. So does that explain how you got those herpes

Wiseman, you're probably the biggest fuckin moron that I have ever encountered in my years in amateur radio if not usenet. You're useless to the core, ill-educated, and a total moron. It is obvious to see that you're so poorly education that you cannot make logic of the fact that you were retested on the basis of not using good amateur practice. Everyone knows it.
What an idiot you truly are.

Here we have a guess on your part. Unfortunately for you, it is a very, very bad guess.

The posts you suspect of being from me, aren't. I always posts as myself, through my earthlink account and I put my name at the bottom of each post. That's something you can't do, UnWiseman. If you didn't post filth, you'd have no need to hide.

As his postings show, he's one of life's ignoramuses [1] who likes things kept simple [2].

Having two requirements to meet would floor him.

That's a bit unfair! He made the following post about challenges of VHF construction in 1996.
http://groups.google.com/group/uk.radio.amateur/msg/a542a145605de776?dmode=source

I'm sure he'll come up with another useful contribution eventually - a bit like the army of monkeys typing the works of Shakespeare!

But all he said was that "It is a greater technical challenge to design and construct equipment for VHF than it is for HF."

Where in that posting is there any mention of "....discussing
and promoting the technologies of radio communications
and the natural phenomena that underly such communications?"?

Not a single technology, or a single natural phenomemon, is mentioned, let alone discussed.....

The ARRL has NOTHING to do with it. The FCC has suggestions on the speed - though I can't recall them off hand. Used to be 20WPM. I don't think there is anything stopping a CW ID now - from sending slower - since the code is only 5WPM max. It would take longer to go out - and drop the repeater - which to some "could" get nerve wracking.

"billy" makes another good fucked up "sentence." Been drinking when you are posting, "Billy?" And this time it wasn't the cum you usually gargle.

BILLY SMITH STEPS ON HIS OWN DICK THUSLY:

<VfQHf.14581$rH5.8121@newsread2.news.atl.earthlink.net>:
"That's interesting there idiot. I bet you really did flunk high school math and probably elementary too. Oh thats right, wasn't that when was in Floriduh. Spelled Florida but the DUH is for your Dumb Ass."

"wasn't that when was in Floriduh" - Billy makes good fuck up!

Message-ID: <Q0bJf.19641$vU2.7735@newsread3.news.atl.earthlink.net>:
"Roger, shots himself in the foot"

Billy the illiterate retard Smith screws up again, and his illiteracy is exposed. "It serves him right." in <hauKf.1410$S25.940@newsread1.news.atl.earthlink.net>:
"Deserves him right."

Billy "retard" Smith confesses to his generally accepted retarded status in <LwpLf.2321$F56.2317@newsread3.news.atl.earthlink.net>:
"I'm a general retard. bwhahaha"

Billy "spelling champ of the general retards" Smith admits his bad hygiene but is still in denial about his English skills in <QxpLf.2322$F56.1169@newsread3.news.atl.earthlink.net>
"Sure I can spell and smell."

"Billy" the NOtwordSmith fucks up again with this incompete sentence in <qgyNf.5576$S25.341@newsread1.news.atl.earthlink.net>:
"So when you got divorced boy, did your finally figure out that your more"

NO the ARRL is not who should do something about this

You are the one that should learn proper procedures on repeaters

First off it is illegal to kerchunk a repeater, i.e. send an unmodulated carrier and not identifying in compliance with FCC rules

Legal way is "KI#XYZ testing"
Repeater comes up and you wait for the courtesy tone (beep or bebop)
Then ask "Can someone tell me the repeater call sign and location, please"
If someone comes back and they usually do Next ask if the repeater is open or closed for general Amateur use.
Some repeaters are for Emergency use only, others for DX announcements, etc

Now you know the callsign of the repeater, its location and whether it is an open or closed repeater and probably the sponsering group or club -- without proficiency in Morse code.

Gee that was simple

Lets not get a thread going on open vs closed repeaters -- the owners can do what ever they want (;-), (;-(

CL -- I doubt, therefore I might be !

I think they should only issue vanity call signs to General class licensees and above.
There are too many new Techs using up all the good vanity call signs available, only to go off the air after a few months and effectively taking the call sign out of the available pool for the next 12 years.

I think it would also be an incentive to upgrade.....Just my opinion.http://groups.yahoo.com/group/Ham-Radio-Unplugged/

Day-care operator's husband is neo-Nazi leader

By Bob Mahlburg

State records call a recent inspection at a Sarasota child- care home "routine," but some activities at the house are anything but typical.

The child-care center, in a modest residential neighborhood, is also home to a self- professed white supremacist and neo-Nazi who has hosted a well-known Web site and Internet radio show.

Michael Herbert Blevins, who calls himself "Von Bluvens," has been a leader in the white supremacist movement, according to national watchdog groups.

In interviews posted on various Web sites, Blevins, whose wife, Bernadette, operates the day care, has advocated "shipping blacks back to Africa," deporting Mexicans and wholesale "extermination" of non-whites. He also has called for "putting Jews to sleep" and produced artwork of an apparent gas chamber with the title "Holocaust: This Time It's for Real."

A neighbor says she has seen a Nazi flag in a back bedroom of the home, down the hall from where young children spend the day.

Sarasota County officials, who regulate child-care homes under a state contract, say they have no reason to close the day care. They stress they have found nothing that violates health and safety regulations, and they must also consider Blevins' constitutional right to free speech.

Bernadette Blevins, formerly Bernadette Heikkila, has run the day care for a decade with no serious violations, according to county regulators. She has been married to Michael Blevins for less than a year.

And because the home is following the rules, the county has no reason to inform parents about his racist views, said Homer Rice, the county Health Department manager who oversees child-care regulation under the state Department of Children & Families contract.

"I can only go by rules and procedure," Rice said. "I cannot put my personal feelings into something. As far as we know, the children are safe. The rules right now are not being violated. There's no reason I can give for denying this family child-care home."

Rice said he was surprised when he recently learned of Michael Blevins' white-supremacist ties. He said the situation troubles him personally, but legally there's nothing he can do.

"It's the parents' responsibility to look into the personalities of the day care and our responsibility to look into the legality of the day care," Rice said. "It's not our responsibility to do the due diligence. The parents should take the time to know them."

When approached at home, Blevins refused to discuss his background and beliefs.

"I have nothing to say, and I'd like you to leave this property," he told a reporter.

The next day, a man identifying himself as Bill White contacted the Herald-Tribune by phone and e-mail and issued veiled threats warning a reporter not to return to Blevins' house. White is a national figure in the white-supremacist movement.

Asked about the business and her husband's activities, Bernadette Blevins responded: "Let them say what they want. I have nothing to say." She then abruptly hung up.

The Blevins' day care will remain open and can continue to receive state and federal funding though a subsidy program for poor families. The day care is one of about 200 in the county that gets government money through the state's School Readiness program.

Authorities say they inspect only areas of the home used for child care. And they haven't interviewed parents or neighbors about the home.

State records show Michael Blevins is also listed as qualified to care for the children in his wife's absence because he completed a three-hour training course at the Charlotte County YMCA in June.

Critics, including the watchdog group Citizens Against Hate, call it outrageous that a neo-Nazi is allowed near small children in a day care. Citizens Against Hate is a loose-knit group that monitors hate speech nationwide and pushes officials to take action on its Web site and through e-mails sent to communities where white supremacists are operating.

The group contacted Sarasota authorities and media about Blevins last month.

The group warned on its Web site that unsuspecting parents who use the Blevins' day care could find their children spouting racist language.

Michael Blevins shot back on his Web site, calling it a "cowardly" attack on his family.

"Why didn't these haters attack me?" Blevins wrote. "My wife's only crime is she married me. My wife is not involved with my religious/political activism."

Carl Weinrich, head of the Sarasota County YMCA, which once oversaw the subsidized day-care programs countywide, feels Health Department officials could take a tougher stand.

"There is kind of a fine line between when the health department can step in to remove someone's license if there isn't physical danger to the children," he said. "Once someone is granted a license, there is a legal threshold that has to be met before it can be taken away."

But Weinrich said if regulators believe there is any kind of danger to children, they should be willing to pull a day-care license -- even if they fear a lawsuit.

"If it was under my jurisdiction, they'd be history," Weinrich said of the Blevins' day care. "I'd worry about the legal suit later."

Weinrich said when the YMCA oversaw the government subsidy programs for day-care centers, several businesses were investigated and shut down. In some cases, YMCA regulators interviewed people who lived near the day care and parents of the children. Such interviews are proper when regulators suspect danger to the children, he said.

Conflicting goals of child safety, free speech and parental rights make the issue complex, experts said.

"It is a hard one," said University of Florida law professor Sharon Rush, co-founder of the Center on Race and Race Relations. "But not telling the parents is still troublesome."

Bernadette Blevins has run a child-care business in her home for a decade and has maintained a generally clean record, according to state inspection records. The couple, who married in June, also passed national criminal background checks to gain approval as day-care providers, officials say.

Bernadette Blevins is a statewide figure in home-based day-care circles. She also has been a leader in a Sarasota child-care association and took an active role in the recent drafting of new

Sarasota County day-care regulations by attending public meetings and offering proposals, county officials said.

That's where Rice met her. She appeared to be conscientious and well-informed, he said. Her day-care inspection file includes numerous training certificates and a glowing recommendation letter from officials.

The revelation that her new husband and partner is a neo- Nazi has sent shock waves through the Florida home child-care community. After her husband's racist ties were revealed to local regulators by Citizens Against Hate, Bernadette Blevins was pressured into stepping down as treasurer of the Florida Family Home Child Care Association, a statewide home child-care group.

Bernadette Blevins, who goes by "Bernie," had been on the state board for nearly four years and no one ever heard her voice racist views, President Tammy Tener said.

Michael Blevins has been a leader in the neo-Nazi movement since at least May 2000, according to Joe Roy, a veteran investigator with the Southern Poverty Law Center Intelligence Project, which tracks hate groups and extremist activity. While in Roanoke, Va., Blevins served as a "unit commander" for the National Socialist Movement, which is part of a national white supremacy movement, Roy said.

"It's up to the parents if they want their kids around that," Roy said. "We have no way of knowing what he's saying and not saying around these kids. But we know what he says on his Web site."

Michael Blevins' Web site offers live audio and CD recordings of his Internet radio show, the "Von Bluvens Show," and an urgent plea for "cash, checks or anonymous money orders," adding he "desperately needs your support." It asks money to be sent to "Mike Blevins" via a post office box in Sarasota.

His radio show titles include "Top 10 Reasons to Hate Kikes," "Adolph (sic) Hitler Award," "Hitler/Holocaust Special," "N------ Be-Gone" and other titles that contain racist slurs.

The site says he "does not advocate any unlawful or criminal acts" and his statements are "protected by the basic human right of freedom of speech as guaranteed by the First Amendment of the Constitution."

The home is licensed to care for up to 10 children, from infants to age 5, but usually has had only four or five children during semi-annual inspections.

Each Sarasota County inspector must check more than 100 day-care homes. Inspections typically last less than an hour.

Nearly half of the 12 inspections at the Blevins' home in the past five years found problems, from incomplete medical or immunization records for children to an empty fire extinguisher and a first-aid kit that lacked anti-poison medicine. But Rice and others call such violations minor and said all were quickly fixed.

State records show state and county officials have investigated at least two complaints from parents that infants or small children at the day care have been left alone for up to 30 minutes in a car. Neither could be proven, officials said.

After meeting with attorneys, officials did a special inspection Wednesday that included a rare visit from a supervisor. They reported the day care remains in compliance on every item checked, including gun safety, a background screening of family members, staff training and naming a backup for child care -- Michael Blevins.

Nobody but you is lying, stupid. Toad lives with his parents. Maybe because I'm a better judge of what my articles contain than anyone else make sense, look to someone else to do it for you.

Noticeably you hate blacks because some of your previous loves had sex with black guys or so they claim. Probably because you were such a pussy you could never measure up. But what do you expect from a Gay White Male from WV that slept with his mommy. . The same spineless jerk that hid behind the curtains when your adversaries paid you a visit after bad mouthing them. While you bombard usenet with your utter Bullshit and innuendos and lies. No wonder they wanted to pay you a visit.

As far as illiteracy goes, I am sure my education is much superior to whatever flunky education you received from one of those online institutions. Considering that everything else you post is lies and bullshit, I doubt if your educational credentials are up to snuff. I would suspect that they are also bullshit. Now run along boy and go back to your mommy. Poor guy at the age of 50 with no life, meaningful job, or anything else to call your own. Just your own bitterness on usenet.

Woger shows himself constantly as being a raving queer. Why else at 45 would he have been hanging out with mommy.

That is a false story put out by the original Daleks. When the TimeLORDs traveled into a time before they were born and disappeared, the Daleks claimed victory. In reality, the TimeLORDs later traveled into the Daleks' past and changed it so that the Daleks' existence branched off into a completely different world line (alternative universe) than ours. The TimeLORDs have returned to rule our world line, and the original Daleks (Kaleds) have vanished. The upcoming 2006 BBC episode called "Return of the Daleks" will bring them back again. At that point, we TimeLORDS will have to return to the past and make further adjustments to it in order to save the world.

Pray that I don't manipulate your past in such a way that you have to come out of your basement and earn a living.

When you're a Roger Wiseman, everyone else must look like a Roger Wiseman. If you post filth, everyone must post filth. If you can't post as yourself, it is sure that no one else posts as himself. If you use your amateur radio equipment to maliciously jam others, everyone must do the same. You're a pathetic little man.

I'm seriously considering getting my old call back. No one would want the thing (hey, I want a 1X2), but a WB2 would be from the 60s. You can't tell from a call sign today how long someone may have been licensed.

Heck, I'm old as air, twice as polluted, and was first licensed in 1962!

95%? Geeze, you mean I might actually have to calculate some answers rather than check 'em off as I knew I'd pass before? Pencil and paper works, but I might want to save time and bring a slip-stick ;)

I don't think they should issue them at all.

Rescind the present ones and reissue a sequential.

"Slow Code" is your question intended as a joke or are you serious?
Ham Radio is just a hobby not a profession. It's not necessary for an operator to keep up to date on the most current electronic knowledge to be able to engage in a QSO.

What benefits would our Ham Radio Hobby get if all hams were re-tested every 10 years?

DO IT!!! I filed to get my original call back on the first day that applications were being accepted ten years ago (gotta' renew this spring). I traded a 1X2 for my old 1X3. The 1X2 was snapped up almost immediately. I wanted it for a club station that I

I don't obsess over anyone. Now just because you are gay and projecting your lifestyle on others, doesn't mean that everyone else accepts your lifestyle. But again, you've proven what a inferior mentally challenged dumbass you really are.

10 years. thats a fairly long time between tests.

if one is to remain proficient in the technology and the regulations, it should be every 5 years with a 3 month grace for the renewal.

Also, the trend of "dumbing down" the current tests should be reversed. The tests today are ridiculously easy for me, compared to 1992. I have also seen examples of tests given in the early 1980's and even the mid 70's. some of those were so full of math that most of todays kids would have a problem even getting past the first few problems (indication of the same "dumbing down" trend in the public school systems).

You are delusional. How's that trespassing charge working out for you, dumbass?
Maybe you can ask your fugly wife if I am Roger Wiseman or not. After all, she seems to wear the pants. You think everybody is Roger. You are wrong again.

You're the one getting all worked up, puppet. You went to Roger's house and took pictures of it. You made a trip to Roger's house when he isn't even posting on newsgroups. You are a easily manipulated puppet.

Bwahahhahaha, it's getting to Wussman. Because even Wussman realizes what a total failure he is and how devoid of talent he really is. Not to mention his lust for dykes and the Lavender Lads. Poor Wussman, still working that Burger King job and part time garbage hauler.

Should I jump in and make a comment? Why not!

I think you are unrealistic in thinking that legislated changes are any help in "cleaning up" the ARS generally. In my view the exam system isnt an entry requirement for the "club" but to satisfy those in government circles that you are technically competent enough to run a station in a safe and non invasive manner.. And thats all!

By invoking the changes you are suggesting you are defining what you (and maybe others) think the ARS is all about. Not everyone will use the HOBBY in the way you think is correct. There are for example those that simply experiment with RF design and practice and dont talk so much to other human beings. For that they only need to be technically competent. They dont however need morse qualifications or to a degree re-examination. If you are smart enough to pass the test for competency reasons first time you should be ethical enough to keep that knowledge where you can relearn it as needed. Learning is a continual process and refreshing what has been learnt is a normal thing to do. By invoking more rules you have told everyone you dont trust them to remain competent. I am sure many can think of a colourful response to that!

You may reduce the numbers of "dreg" operators by your "rules". You'll also kill the hobby for other "good" people that you want. I of course hear that argument coming about "if you want to use the ARS you have to go out and learn morse and a whole lot of other (useless) stuff". Its the same (stupid) level as you need to know the physics of rubber construction so you can inflate your car tire to the correct pressure...

There's FCC paper which indicates that you've done so. There is no paper from any country which indicates that I've done anything to break the amateur radio regulations of any country.

I have never posted as another. Not everyone is like the cockroach Wiseman.

I've used no fake names on or off Usenet and I certainly didn't use a false name in dealing with the police. The fellow I'm responding to here is certainly using a myriad of names, none of them his own. He simply can't afford to post as himself.

I do know. No one answered your door though the peephole darkened and That's a falsehood. There were no police present. There was also no Roger Wiseman and no imaginary friend. They had to be on the inside of the door. They spoke no words. They made no gestures. They were keeping very, very quiet.

No, that's quite correct. An imaginary friend, posting to the internet does not count. A property owner must confront those he believes to be trespassing and tell them that they are trespassing. He could probably even say it through the closed door. But you/he didn't.

Wouldn't that be "So are"? I'll bet you believed them to be "hideous" when we turned up at your door. You acted frightened. You're still acting that way, even through your display of false Usenet bravado.

If you'd arrived at my door, I would have come out in the blink of an eye. You continue to underestimate people, UnWiseman.

I love to pop my pimples
It's what I like to do
I love to pop my pimples
As I drink my Mountain Dew

People always tease me
About my zit filled face
They say I make them queasy
It makes me feel out of place

I love to squeeze my pimples
and when the pus is about to explode
I aim it at mean people
and laugh and yell,"Here, have a pus load"

I love to pop my pimples
It's what I like to do
It really helps pass the time
at my job in fast food

If a customer is mean to me
I know exactly how to get him back
I pop one of my many pimples
some special sauce for his Big Mac

So if you are ever mean
Remember the words that I have said
Because this zit faced loser
will pop some pus toward your head

Such language, Toodles! Does it make you feel almost grown up to talk that way?

We got NIM Busters back up after we found the router that Markie had taken down with spoofed SNMP commands. Such an old time hack, but he's such an old timer that he is too old to know anything new.

The part about my mother must be projection on your part. That's what psychologists call it when you attribute your own internal state to other people. Is that why your mother keeps you locked in the basement? Do you keep on trying to crawl between her legs?

What a nasty, smarmy fellow you are. And stop streaming those kiddy porn movies from your home. You're going to get caught.

My, my. That's wrong too. She's been a U.S. citizen for quite a long time. She has all the same rights as an American as you. She manages not to abuse her rights they way you have.

The the U.S., it is "license". She doesn't have a bad driving record.
She doesn't have a driving record at all.

I see two problems with your silliness. 1) She doesn't demonstrate the makeup on herself. She demonstrates the cosmetics on the customers. 2)
She has a lovely face.

That is also incorrect. She is quite young and doesn't have wrinkles.
Perhaps when she is older, she'll have some.

No, not if she is a naturalized one. Guess they didn't teach you that while you were in the State Dept's backwater assignments.

No, she just joins you in illegal activites like stalking Roger Wiseman.

He wasn't in the U.S., you anal-centric fool.

Her former one is so poor, isn't it?

How? You have your head firmly entrenched up your ass.

No, she wears it.

Sure she does. AS if you'd know. Are you one of her customers?

Her face looks mangled. Her teeth look like a Klingon's.

More damage control. She has wrinkles. And she isn't that young.

You mean more.

Wrong guess, dumbass. But you certainly don't have a clue.

Just like you claim Roger's house is in a "velley" and has living room lights on (when the sun sets behind those two hills) for no reason at all.

> Drift on by and introduce yourself.

Really? Roger Wiseman isn't allowed in that store? Hmm, I wonder if her and the store security man's manager or even the district manager would be interested to know this . How about up at corporate headquarters?

No, it's more obsessive stalking from Stalker boy Heil.

983. What does it mean to be a _REAL_ Radio Ham? The FAQ is here!

What is Ham Radio?

It is becoming increasingly difficult to fly the flag for decency and for civilised behaviour in Radio Hammery. Even the Usenet newsgroups dedicated to the cause have degenerated
into a hotbed of abusive onslaughts by those who ought to know better, the Nugatory Numpties who boast of an interest exceeding 10, 20, 30, 40 or even 50 years and yet who have proved themselves incapable of even meeting the trivial exam standards set for 6-year-olds.
However, there still exists the fundamental basis on which Ham Radio is based, and that will never die. This FAQ ("What Is Ham Radio?") will be regularly published and will not be shouted or bullied down. It is important that those of a technical bent, who are the natural seed-corn of Radio Hammery
and who gravitate towards us to be the real novitiate, can still find us, (and know that we are still here), their fellows.

-----ooooo-----

Please remember that this FAQ is a _POSITIVE EXHORTATION_
to you to exert yourselves to join our fraternity! (If you find otherwise, then perhaps you are already classing yourself in the mediocre groups of those who are criticised in the FAQ and from whom we _MUST_ dissociate? If so - it's never too late for a re-taxonomisation on your part - there's nothing elitist about us, and we welcome all those who are prepared to put themselves
out in order to join our ranks!)

-----ooooo-----
So,.....What is Ham Radio?

Ham Radio is a technical pursuit for those who are interested in the science of radio wave
propagation and who are also interested in the way that their radios function. It has a long-standing tradition of providing a source of engineers who
are born naturals.

Ham Radio awakens in its aficionados a whole-life
fascination with all things technical and gives
an all-abiding curiosity to improve one's scientific knowledge. It's a great swimming pool, please dive in!

This excitement causes a wish to share the experience
with ones fellow man, and shows itself in the gentlemanly traditions of Ham Radio.

Radio Hams are in a unique privileged position in that they can construct and operate their own equipment! No-one else has this privilege. Users, such as broadcasters,
the po lice and armed farces, CBers and mobile phone users have to purchase ready-made gear. Manufacturers
are not licensed to operate their gear. Radio Hams
are qualified to design, build and then operate their own pieces of equipment. They do this
with gusto, and also repair and modify their own equipment. This is a privilege well worth the effort
to gain, and one to be jealously guarded.

The excitement that drives a Radio Ham starts with relatively simple technologies at first, perhaps making
his own Wimshurst machine and primary cells. Small pieces
of test equipment follow, possibly multimeters and signal generators. Then comes receivers and transmitters. It is with the latter that communication with like-minded technically motivated people takes off. The scope for technical development grows with the years
and now encompasses DSP and DDS. There is also a great deal of excitement in the areas of computer programming to
be learnt and applied.

The technical excitement motivates Radio Hams to compete with each other to determine who has designed and manufactured
the best-quality station. This competitiveness is found in DXing, competitions and fox-hunts.

-----OOOOO----

However, beware! A Ham Radio licence is such a desirable thing to have that there are large numbers of people who wish to be thought of
as Radio Hams when, in fact, they are nothing of the kind! Usually such people are a variation of the CB Radio hobbyist; they buy their radios off the shelf and send them back to be
and sneer at those who are; they have no idea how their radios work inside and have no wish to find out;
they are free with rather silly personal insults;
they have not satisfied any technical qualification
and their licences prevent the use of
self-designed-and-built equipment.

These CB types engage in the competitive activities
with their Cheque-Book-purchased off-the-shelf radios
in a forlorn effort to prove that they are Radio Hams.

No _REAL_ Radio Hams are deceived by such people!

-----ooooo-----

One infallible way to disambiguate the CB Radio Hobbyist
from the _REAL_ Radio Ham is to solicit their view of the difference between CB Radio and Ham Radio. A Radio Ham will perceive Ham Radio to be a technical pursuit and will perceive CB Radio to be a social communications facility
no different in essence to a land-line telephone or a GSM mobile in the hands of a 6-year-old. Thus a Radio Ham could also hold a CB licence safe in the knowledge that such a licence says no more about him than having a land-line telephone, whilst continuing to regard Ham Radio as a separate technical pursuit.

A CB Radio hobbyist, on the other hand, sees no difference between a Ham Radio licence and a CB Radio licence. To him, they are sisters-under-the-skin. Wrongly, the CB Radio Hobbyist then
tries to classify himself as the equal of the Radio Ham when, in fact, he is nothing of the kind. A sure sign of a CB Radio hobbyist is if he holds, or has ever held, a licence
M3/CB Fools' Licence scheme.

Well the answer is that the world is constantly changing but the animal instincts are still with us! <grin>

Its also very easy to choose who you will talk to. You dont have to argue with a irritating holder of a license, just ignore them.

A warning letter is just a notice of ALLEGED interference, and warned of consequences. It indicates an impermissible activity ocurred, but by its nature is neither proof of the activity, nor guarantee of
validity of the evidence, if any.

Although well written Mr Plod and in some places downright excellent I think you are making assumptions about what AR "really is" and imprinting your own views as being the gospel. Mind you there is nothing wrong with that and invites positive discussion. Things could also be very different in G land but my experiences are different. Just be careful presenting this to outsiders as being something other than your personal view.

You seem to dwell on the "difference" or "better than" that AR has over other radio services. Since this and the associated CB bashing that pervades this NG on a regular basis I guess you are in good company. You could roughly divide radio use into "CB related" "Amateur related" and anything else like public services and commercial. You then concentrate yet again on the CB vs AR debate.

In my view there has always been a blurring about what use CB vs AR is about. It's a double set of bell shape curves that overlap in a lot of ways.

The first thing you have to do when judging behaviour and use is to throw away the ideal world of what the law that was passed on the topic actually menas or is interpreted to mean. Such arguments as "go get your license and we'll let you experiment" are irrelevent in the light of what ACTUALLY happens in the real world. The law is suppose to reflect the community attitude and beliefs rather than force its direction. There will never be enough resources to enforce a law if a large percentage of those that affect it, ignore it! Yes there are undesirable people on both CB and AR bands. This however is a subset of people generally. You can be obnoxious just as easily without a radio as having one. What grade of license you have is irrelevent and it continues to happen.

There is a lot of social conversion on AR, husbands and wives use it as a contact medium, people exchange weather reports and QSL cards. Those that go on desert treks use it as a backup emergency system. There is a lot on inane chatter about all types of things simply to hear one self speak! Are these within the technical pursuit of the hobby? CB'ers experiment with antenna systems and propagation, do technically illegal things to their radios in the PURSUIT of making them work better. In the process they learn and enjoy their hobby like an AR user does. Yes the technical standard isnt likely to be as high but it is there.

There is NO brick wall seperating the use of the respective services. It is very blurred and overlaps considerably. There is no black or white view amongst most of those that use it. There are of course exceptions that dont look at the real world and try to force their own misguided views as correct. There is however a continual case of "I am better than you because I am licensed" not unlike the "keeping up with the Jones's" habit of preening in ones own nest.

Unhappily though "decency" or whatever you like to call it is not just a function of radio users. Its the result of the way the world is changing or if you like a sociological problem just waiting to explode. The place is a lot unhappier, people are more willing to return to their animal instincts and anything that makes it easy to tread in your neighbours is fair game. I mean just look at this newsgroup...

Apologies for this post being OT in the other groups posted

"Mrs. Nugatory And The Numpties" - sounds like a 60's pop group, or else a description of those vacuous-brained losers who frequent this NG but yet who have been singularly unsuccessful in passing even the exams set for 6-year-olds! (Easily recognised by their failure to contribute anything of relevance unless the answers they seek are available via a hastily-undertaken Google search, their habituation of sneering at things about which they know nothing, and their choice in obscure films such as The Bitches Of Toko-Roko)

I think someone needs to tell that to the lawmakers in the UK regarding the speed limits on the motorways and the positioning of some of the fixed speed cameras which are in areas that are NOT dangerous.

Then I regret that it is likely that you are a CBer, or a CBer-Masquerading-As-A-Radio-Ham. I very much regret that you may have been misled into a false sense of belief.

There is _NO_ common ground between CB Radio and Ham Radio.

Ham Radio is a technical pursuit for gentlemen.

CB Radio is an operating hobby for idiots. (Save when used in its original mode as a social communications facility when it is then indistinguishable from land-line telephony or GSM mobiles)

As usual, you underestimate others that you accuse of the very same thing.
Roger's background does have International affairs in it. Too bad.

It's picture is on your website. Too bad. Your crappy yellow canary car was described to me. 2+2=4. Except in your world.

How is that possible, George Orwell aka Eric Arthur Blair died in 1950.
Looks like you don't know what you are talking about again.

Really? I bet Roger could do better than a gopher's job in the State Department if he wanted to. Being sent to the backwaters like you were.

Wrong. She has no chance of becoming president.
That's pretty much why Schartenegger can't run, either.

It gets dark early anyplace during the winter. His valley location

Transference. You are the one who always thinks everybody is Roger Wiseman. You have neither the credtials to make any psychological or psychiatric evaluation. You are Dr. "Fraud."

Surely if the argument for the cameras was a valid one i.e. safety then the slow down lights that flash at you to reduce your speed would be 100% better than cameras which you sometimes don't even notice they are there until a week later when the intent to prosecute letter drops through your door...where does safety come in to it?, nothing to do with safety at all... just revenue makers... so I agree with you...

No, G1LVN the problem is that there are none amateurs on these newsgroups causing problems like whinyslit_lloyd...@yahoo.com. People like him hijack threads and is abusive not only to me but to other amateur radio operators on rec.radio.amateur.policy, and you can look in googles archives and see for yourself. Him and his associates have turned rec.radio.amateur.policy into a huge flame war zone, throwing he subject matter well beyond the scope of amateru radio.

These are the numbers of current, unexpired amateur radio licenses held by individuals on the stated dates, and the percentage of the total number of active licenses that class contains:

As of May 14, 2000:

Novice - 49,329 (7.3%)
Technician - 205,394 (30.4%)
Technician Plus - 128,860 (19.1%)
General - 112,677 (16.7%)
Advanced - 99,782 (14.8%)
Extra - 78,750 (11.7%)

Total Tech/TechPlus - 334,254 (49.5%)

Total General/Advanced/Extra - 291,209 (43.2%)

Total all classes - 674,792

As of February 28, 2006:

Novice - 26,085 (4.0%) [decrease of 23,244]
Technician - 277,135 (42.0%) [increase of 71,741] Technician Plus - 41,797 (6.3%) [decrease of 87,063]
General - 134,179 (20.3%) [increase of 21,502]
Advanced - 73,327 (11.1%) [decrease of 26,455]
Extra - 107,558 (16.3%) [increase of 28,808]

Total Tech/TechPlus - 318,932 (48.3%) [decrease of 15,322]

Total General/Advanced/Extra - 315,064 (47.7%) [increase of 23,855]

Total all classes - 660,081 (decrease of 14,711)

Note that these totals do not include licenses that have expired but are in the grace period.

They also do not include club, military, RACES or other station-only licenses.

Note also that effective April 15, 2000, new Novice, Technician Plus and Advanced licenses are no longer issued.

Since April 15, 2000, FCC has renewed all existing Technician Plus licenses as Technician. It is therefore informative to consider the totals of the two classes, since the Technician class includes a significant number of Technician Plus licenses renewed as Technician.

It was 13wpm (General) and 20wpm (Extra) up until April 2000 actually.

However, if you go a good bit further back in time, it was 10wpm. Go further back yet again and it was only 5wpm. See "The Art & Skill of Radiotelegraphy" for a more detailed history.

What does it mean to be a real radio ham?

It means you have a real ham license. Anything else, including the rest of your post, is just one person's opinion, period.

Ah, but define a 'real ham license'. A lot of people in the UK think the M3/Foundation licence is NOT a real ham licence! Herein lies the problem!

1 This excitement causes a wish to share the experience
with ones fellow man, and shows itself in the gentlemanly traditions of Ham Radio. = MAN

2 Thus a Radio Ham could also hold a CB licence safe in the knowledge that such a licence says no more about him than having a land-line = MAN

3 Ham Radio licence and a CB Radio licence. To him, they are sisters-under-the-skin. Wrongly, the CB Radio Hobbyist then = MAN

Sir with respect to you this is error

I myself have heard on quite few occasions women with their own stations / license G3`s 4`s and 8 and have met a female Radio ham at the Canvey Island public Amatuer Radio Rally Sale who was also a stall - holder

another licensed Female operater was a sales lady in an Essex amatuer radio Shop, she used to go to the same social club as me.

after this, I think look how many mistakes I make, loads of them.
I think i had better write better messages myself

In this context, it doesn't matter what individuals think. What matters is what the gummint says. If they call it an "Amateur Radio License" or the equivalent, that's what it is. IF they call it a "Citizen's Band License" or the equivalent, that's also what it is.

What you or I make of those is important to us but irrelevant to the original question.

Hello Gang:

I heard a great call tonight NO0G, november oscar zero george! Wow, there's a lot I could do with that call...but I won't go there.

I couldn't find the original message that was posted about vanity callsigns only being able to be applied for by General class licensees. I think you're opinion is right-on, but I do have a question. If you believe the Techs are using up all the good vanity call signs, wouldn't this be because all the Advance, General, and Extra class folks aren't?

Be kind to Robeson. His behavior is his way of dealing with his own problems. He believes in projecting his troubles upon strangers, quite the quirky way of dealing and providing himself with some sort of mental therapy. He's a control freak and member of the Civil Air Patrol who acts like he does for reasons known only to himself. He is a man who dislikes compromise, his ego is easily bruised, and one only needs browse his warblings over the years for such an illustration of how this blemish of a Radio Amateur. Robeson is never wrong, don't you know that by now?

ï¿½ï¿½Jerry Oxendine told me Robeson was an officer in the CAP and Robeson has confirmed this himself. This by itself wouldn't be an issue, but the fact he feels it important enough to put it out there in public and couple it with such behavior unbecoming of one who holds such a position makes his hypocrisy fair game.
ï¿½ï¿½It's plain to see why this country is hated more each day around the world. With leaders like we have and officers like Oxendine and Robeson in charge of anyone or anything, who are out there setting examples like they do and spoiling the good image of such civil/military endeavors and entities, it's no wonder this great country is having its image tarnished. Robeson is the worst type of American. He wraps himself in the flag and attacks those with whom he disagrees as opposed to attacking the actual subject matter/topic. Another "semi-qualified licensed" hammie who has much to learn regarding communications. He was taught Fields Communications and basic introductories regarding such, but as exampled, is illiterate when it comes to Discipline in Communications, knows nothing of Approaches of Communications, Relations, Negotiations and a host of other academia related to his chosen radio hobby that he never bothered to learn.
He and Oxendine are much alike. Zero tolerance for any views but their own myopic concerns.

In February 2006 I posted as Whinyslit and made 371 posts on Usenet. I also posted 231 more posts over Lloyd's callsign and made yet more over the names of others such as Mark Morgan and basement dweller Todd. (Todd still has yet to figure out who I am)
I falsely and illegally advertised child porn for sale over Lloyd's name and address and accused various Usenet patrons of stalking me.
Now, when I was taken to task for my malicious acts and when you guys started keeping track of my posts, who is stalking who?
Knock on my door, you are stalking...according to me. When I post your personal information, your addresses, your wife and kids names and even your place of employment, that is not stalking. When I research even where your local bus stations are...that is not stalking. When you guys post my name and address...THAT is stalking! When you guys post photos of my house...THAT is stalking. (see the irony?)

Do not come to my door. I won't answer. I am afraid of what you may do to me. And when you leave? Rest assured that I will go immediately to my keyboard and post lie after lie about you. This is how I comport myself...a chickenshit with a mouth that far overloads my fifty year old, shriveled testicles.

If you disagree with me, drop me a land line. My callsign, AB8MQ is easy enough to look up and I will be more than happy to answer any and all queries.

I have to get ready for bed and draw my curtains so as to spend some quality time with my inflatable boyfriend. If you come calling it is a good bet I won't answer. Come back tomorrow. Or the day after. Or next week.

Hi, Kim.

I think the fellow's complaint is just sour grapes because he didn't get a call sign he wanted. I do NOT agree that Techs shouldn't be allowed to get vanity call signs. They are entitled to 1x3 calls and at this point in time those are only available through the vanity system since the 1x3s available for sequential assignment were "used up" in the early 1990s. Many holders of 1x3 calls, especially those beginning with N since this was the last group used for sequential assignment, actually have their original sequential issue calls.

In addition, blocking them from vanity calls would also block them from getting a deceased relative's call unless an exception was made. A few people have actually gone from existing 1x3s that they were assigned years ago to 2x3s via the vanity system to get a relative's call upon their death. Others have chosen to return to their old Novice calls (which were 2x3s) for sentimental reasons. I've even seen a case of a Novice getting a vanity call although they are limited to choosing from the 2x3 block unless they fall under the special blocks for Alaska, Puerto Rico, etc. Probably a case of adopting a deceased relative's call.

And who is to say what is a "good vanity call sign?" What one person may like, another may consider horrid. I have never gone for a vanity call since the only ones that I would want are the 1x2s if I were to change. There are no 1x2s available that I like. The 2x2s have no advantage and the 2x1s seem awkward to me. Therefore I stayed with my original issue 1x3 call (now I'm rather attached to it anyway).

The Advanced and Extra class operators have less reason to go for a vanity 1x3. Many already have what they consider desirable calls from the sequential assignment. They got 2x2s automatically. Until the even shorter calls ran out, the Extras got 1x2s and then 2x1s. And they are eligible for these blocks as vanity calls.

In addition, if one does the math, there are enough 1x3s for all existing Techs, Tech+ and Generals to have one (via the vanity system) if they choose to do so. There are 527,280 possible 1x3 call signs with a very small handful excluded from issue for a variety of reasons. Based on Jim's (N2EY) numbers, there are 446,031 combined Tech, Tech+, and General licensees.

If one is an Advanced or Extra, there are an additional possible 527,280 2x2 calls in the Advanced block yet only 178,532 licensees eligible to hold those calls.

If one is an Extra, there are approximately an additional 121,680 possible call signs and only 78,750 licensees eligible to hold them.

So it certainly looks like a case of someone complaining because they didn't get the call sign they wanted. That is not a good enough reason to stop Techs from getting vanity calls.

You are wrong Mr Plod.

Try to open your mind up just a little, learn some new things and consider that your views are based on prejudice and a very narrow view of what the world is and should be.

How you live your life and what beliefs you have are your right. Dont however use them as a base frame of reference.

At least you used the word "likely". That implies statistical possibility. Something that you havent applied to CB vs AR.

There are also a large number of female amateurs. How do they fit into the "gentlemen" designation?

Please back up your assertions with statistical analysis with a sound technical base. ie Dont use rhetoric & prove what you say is true with specific data.

I do however congratulate you for not appearing racists. (ie I shouldnt be using a UK newsgroup...)

Quoting from the moderator's message:

"This group supports free and uncensored speech, so a moderator will not be jumping in all the time telling people how to conduct themselves as is done in other groups. Of course no ongoing "flame wars" or spam

In other words, you're free to say anything the moderator thinks is ok.

I think it is you who is, perhaps, analysing this thread with a limited purview, and who is in the wrong.

You will find that the FAQ is very much an encouragement for all to learn new things and apply themselves to improve their lot.

I cannot see how your remarks below can be squared with the exhortations and encouragements that are in the FAQ.

Please read the FAQ, perhaps for the first time?

To come full circle...true. You've changed my mind, made a lot of logical submissions and I now believe the vanity callsign program is good as is...that is, unless it's changed since I've been out of the Ham Radio scene the last--what--three years (at least)?

One day, while a woodcutter was cutting a branch of a tree above a river, his axe fell into the river. When he cried out, the Creator appeared and asked, "Why are you crying?"

The woodcutter replied that his axe has fallen into water, and he needed the axe to make his living.

The Creator went down into the water and reappeared with a golden axe.

"Is this your axe?" the Creator asked.

The woodcutter replied, "No."

The Creator again went down and came up with a silver axe.

"Is this your axe?" the Lord asked.

Again, the woodcutter replied, "No."

The Creator went down again and came up with an iron axe.

"Is this your axe?" the Creator asked.

The woodcutter replied, "Yes."

The Creator was pleased with the man's honesty and gave him all three axes to keep, and the woodcutter went home happy.

Some time later the woodcutter was walking with his wife along the riverbank, and his wife fell into the river.

When he cried out, the Creator again appeared and asked him, "Why are you crying?"

"Oh Great Father, my wife has fallen into the water!"

The Creator went down into the water and came up with Jennifer Lopez.

"Is this your wife?" the Lord asked.

"Yes," cried the woodcutter.

The Creator was furious. "You lied! That is an untruth!"

The woodcutter replied, "Oh, forgive me, my Maker. It is a misunderstanding. You see, if I had said 'no' to Jennifer Lopez, You would have come up with Catherine Zeta Jones. Then if I said 'no' to her, you would have come up with my wife. Had I then said 'yes,' you would have given me all three. Lord, I am a poor man, and am not able to take care of all three wives, so THAT'S why I said yes to Jennifer Lopez."

The moral of this story is: Whenever a man lies, it is for a good and honorable reason, and for the benefit of others.

That's their story, and they're sticking to it! - "IT OK FOR TOAD AND MARK AND STEVE TO LIE --- THEY ARE HONORABLE MEN !!!!!!"..

We'll um if that document (after "So What is Ham Radio") was the entire FAQ that you published you only dedicated the first few paragraphs to what AR is about. The rest seems to be more dedicated to what it isnt and what CB is/isnt. True, it contains some more positive references to AR but you keep needling at CB etc excessively. As far as I am concerned it would have been far more meaningful to omit any reference to CB whatsoever. I suggest you rewrite it like this, post it and see what we think.

I dont disagree with your first parts. It is well written even if it is what I deem a too narrow view as to what AR is about. The bit about being gentlemanly is irrelevent to me simply because I was never bought up or lived in a class atmosphere where that term had any importance. This however is probably a language difference as I might ascribe possibly similar qualities to AR people in general. (eg willing to help, never being violent etc) Of course these qualities are dissappearing in the world generally so I suggest AR is tending to go the same way. I also take your section on competition being something that spurs us all on to bigger and better things as being a load of tripe. It is true that competition occurs, but I and many others I have talked to never see it as important at all. It is in fact the "leisure and social" side showing through along the same lines as getting excited over a football match! I experiment becasue I am interested in it, not because I want to be better than everyone.

If I was a CB'er I'd take your FAQ as a slap in the face and it would drive me not to even think about taking up the AR hobby. Perhaps that is your agenda?

Woger Leo is very protective of his inflatable boyfriend. He guards this love of his life with much jealousy. Do NOT make fun of Woger's blow-up buddy lest you suffer the wrath of a Gay Boy scorned.

After all, have you ever considered how much effort Woger went through to find the "perfect" inflatable mate? All the mail order catalogs he must have browsed? All the web sites he visited? No wonder he has so many dialup accounts.

Woger Leo often seats his blow-up buddy at the kitchen table with him as they discuss the events of the day. Woger, being a nutcase, can even "hear" his blow-up buddy talking to him. Of course Woger hears voices from mysterious sources every day so there is nothing new there.

Now you know why Woger keeps his blinds drawn 24/7. It wouldn't bode well with his neighbors if they were to see Woger carrying on a conversation with his imaginary vinyl friend. They might even come to the mistaken impression that Woger is more than a little bit unbalanced.

Dayton Hamvention® Announces 2006 Award Winners

DAYTON, OH, Mar 10, 2006--Dayton Hamvention has announced the winners of its 2006 Amateur of the Year, Special Achievement and Technical Excellence awards. Being honored for their contributions to the Amateur Radio Service are Gordon West, WB6NOA--Amateur of the Year; Riley Hollingsworth, K4ZDH--Special Achievement Award, and Dick Illman, AH6EZ--Technical Excellence Award.

Hamvention Amateur of the Year: Gordon "Gordo" West, WB6NOA

Gordon West, WB6NOA

West, of Costa Mesa, California, was named Amateur of the Year for his efforts in recruiting and training many new amateurs, in addition to his nearly lifelong involvement in ham radio. Starting in the late 1950s "Gordo," as he is known, worked for some of the big names in the field helping to develop several innovative pieces of equipment.

In the 1980s West and his wife Suzy, N6GLF, began teaching ham radio classes at college and marine venues and authored Amateur Radio training books sold by RadioShack and equipment dealers around the country.

A Radio Club of America fellow and a recipient of the ARRL Instructor of the Year Award, West remains active from 75 meters through 10 GHz, spending at least a couple hours on the air every day, helping new hams make friends on the many nets he runs.

In addition, West volunteers with the American Red Cross communications team in Orange County, California, and regularly offers free kids classes and classes for cities to support their Community Emergency Response Teams (CERT).

"It's my give-back to a hobby that gives me the satisfaction of offering free classes for kids and emergency responders, and I thank all the ham operators who support our training program, and the ARRL for their continued support with the emergency communication Web-based classes," West said.

Special Achievement Award: Riley Hollingsworth

Riley Hollingsworth

Hollingsworth, who's Special Counsel in the FCC Enforcement Bureau at the FCC's Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, office, will receive Hamvention's Special Achievement Award for his efforts in resurrecting the FCC's

Amateur Radio enforcement effort and helping to eliminate an increasing number of enforcement problems plaguing the ham bands. Hollingsworth's efforts, begun in 1998, reversed more than a decade of FCC apathy in amateur enforcement. Radio amateurs across the US credit Hollingsworth with reducing malicious interference and other problem behavior on the air.

Hollingsworth's other FCC responsibilities include interference resolution in the Land Mobile and Public Safety Services. In past years, he served as co-chair of the FCC's PCS Broadband and Narrowband Licensing Task Force, for which he received a Reinventing Government Award in 1994. He also managed the FCC's 800 MHz Task Force in which new 800 MHz spectrum was assigned in 13 cities, and he organized a Commission enforcement initiative to recover underutilized land mobile radio channels in major cities for reassignment.

A graduate of the University of South Carolina, he received his law degree from Wake Forest University. Hollingsworth was first licensed in 1960 in his home state of South Carolina and is a member of the Quarter Century Wireless Association and F.I.S.T.S. CW club.

Technical Excellence Award: Richard "Dick" Illman, AH6EZ

Dick Illman, AH6EZ

Illman, who lives in St Charles, Illinois, was picked to receive the 2006 Technical Excellence Award for his work as principal staff engineer at Motorola in developing a broadband over power line (BPL) system for his company that essentially eliminates HF interference. The nominating committee cited Illman's technical knowledge and his willingness to help tackle and overcome BPL's thorny interference issues, influencing Motorola to deliver his patent-pending solution, Powerline LV.

Motorola approached the ARRL in 2004 seeking input on a BPL design that could avoid many or most of the interference problems that have plagued some other BPL systems. The company and the ARRL subsequently cooperated in deploying a test stand Powerline LV system between ARRL Headquarters and W1AW. Preliminary results from the ARRL tests have shown the Motorola Powerline LV system seems to be Amateur Radio-friendly.

Motorola introduced its Powerline LV wireless-to-low voltage BPL solution at the United Telecom Council's "Telecom 2005." The ARRL has cited the Motorola solution in filings to the FCC as an example of a BPL system designed to avoid interference to or from Amateur Radio.

Illman, who hold a bachelor's degree in electrical engineering, has enjoyed a 31-year career with Motorola Systems Engineering. His idea to include a set of hardware notch filters in Motorola's Powerline LV equipment to protect Amateur Radio beyond the traditional technique of turning off specific carriers is an industry first.

His passion for ham radio began in high school as a Novice licensee in 1969 and has continued over 37 years on all bands and all modes. It has included everything from working satellites while aboard a moving passenger train to demonstrating ISS contacts to Boy Scouts. An avid DXer he works more than 200 countries each year, in part because of a friendly competition among his fellow Fox River Radio League members in Aurora, Illinois. Illman has been the club's president for the past two years and has been recognized with the club's Ham of the Year award three years in a row.

Difficult Choices

Hamvention Awards Chairman Pat Johnson, KC8ZZO, said the committee faced a tough task selecting the winners from among a number of worthy nominees. "We were impressed with the quality of the nominations," he said. "We believe the winners all represent excellence in service to the ham radio community."

Hamvention Chairman Jim Nies, WX8F, praised the winners. "On behalf of the Dayton Amateur Radio Association and Hamvention 2006, it is my distinct pleasure to congratulate this year's award winners," he said. "Please join me in recognizing each of these gentlemen for their outstanding contributions to Amateur Radio and their many years of devotion to the Amateur Radio Service."

Held this year from May 19 until May 21, Dayton Hamvention, the world's largest Amateur Radio gathering, annually attracts more than 25,000 people to the greater Dayton area. The event includes exhibits, a flea market, forums and educational sessions. More information is on the Hamvention Web site.

Aw, come on. Humor these guys a little bit. After all, they spend a half hour at their keyboards picking and typing to come up with their responses.
You could at least show a bit of condescension and treat them as underlings.

So do you, cunt fart:

BILLY SMITH STEPS ON HIS OWN DICK THUSLY:

Billy "Dumbass who can't put together a sentence" Smith shows off those English skills, quite ironically in <VfQHf.14581$rH5.8121@newsread2.news.atl.earthlink.net>:
"That's interesting there idiot. I bet you really did flunk high school math and probably elementary too. Oh thats right, wasn't that when was in Floriduh. Spelled Florida but the DUH is for your Dumb Ass."

"wasn't that when was in Floriduh" - Billy makes good fuck up!

Billy "shoots" himself in his palsied club foot once again in Message-ID: <Q0bJf.19641$vU2.7735@newsread3.news.atl.earthlink.net>:
"Roger, shots himself in the foot"

Billy the illiterate retard Smith screws up again, and his illiteracy is exposed. "It serves him right." in <hauKf.1410$S25.940@newsread1.news.atl.earthlink.net>:
"Deserves him right."

Billy "retard" Smith confesses to his generally accepted retarded
status in <LwpLf.2321$F56.2317@newsread3.news.atl.earthlink.net>:
"I'm a general retard. bwhahaha"

Billy "spelling champ of the general retards" Smith admits his bad hygiene but is still in denial about his English skills in <QxpLf.2322$F56.1169@newsread3.news.atl.earthlink.net>
"Sure I can spell and smell."

"Billy" the NOtwordSmith fucks up again with this incompete sentence in <qgyNf.5576$S25.341@newsread1.news.atl.earthlink.net>:
"So when you got divorced boy, did your finally figure out that your more"

Billy "cumgargler" Smith managed to awaken from his drunken stupor to slobber
in <fbIOf.442$sL2.25@newsread2.news.atl.earthlink.net>:

"Isn't that you mom weighed"

Mr."Education" Billy Smith steps on his own dick again when he talks about others' "educations" (or educatiion" as he spells it) in <w7IOf.436$sL2.167@newsread2.news.atl.earthlink.net>:
"Uh, huh. Right LOSER. Still smoking that dope again? By the way how is your so called educatiion actually doing for you? Those online classes."

Billy Smith shows off his Pulitzer Prize writing skills in <B9IOf.439$sL2.255@newsread2.news.atl.earthlink.net>:
"You're whole life has been exhaled before."

I'll take some of that bet. Who's holding the wagers--someone posing as N0VFP, somebody called whiny-somethin' or other, a markie_morgan sockpuppet or is it Roger Wiseman?

What in the world is that matter with you Wiseman? You chastise someone for how he spends his Saturday night. Look how you've spent your Sunday! You taunt someone over some alleged visit to his apartment, but you won't open your own door when someone wants to speak with you.

By the way: Nobody has contacted me over any "charges" and nobody has sent a letter to my wife's place of employment. Your grandiose claims seem to have been a product of your active imagination.

Dear Mr. Wiseman,

I find it hard to believe your assertion that this incident of jamming on 20 meters is an isolated occurrence. I have too many complaints on my desk about you for this to be a ï¿½one time affair.ï¿½ I have a strong feeling that this time is not the only time youï¿½ve let your emotions get the better of you and acted out in a juvenile manner. My personal opinion is that you have a lot of growing up to do. Generally when this kind of violation occurs I fine a licensee, however since youï¿½ve already stated that you are indigent and can not afford a fine, I will, pursuant to ï¿½97.519(d)(2), readminister your licensure exam. Rest assured if your misbehavior continues next time your license will be suspended.

You can't come in
I hear you knockin' but you can't come in
I hear you knockin' but you can't come in

I used to flog the dolphin
Used to choke the chicken
Used to spank the monkey
Used to fool with the tool
I used to whip the bishop
Used to wax the weasel
But now I learned one they never taught in school

You can't come in
I hear you knockin' but you can't come in
I hear you knockin' but you can't come in

I used to whack the Bobbitt Used to knead the noodle
Used to charm the cobra Used to ponder pointillism
I used to free the willy
Used to Pat the Robertson
But now I got me a new euphemism

You can't come in
I hear you knockin' but you can't come in
I hear you knockin' but you can't come in

I used to think I'd need analysis
Get phalluses full of calluses
Go blind, lose my mind
Be romantically disinclined
I used to think I'd never be mollified
Or qualified at all if I'd Go to work as a clerk
Try to be anything but a jerk

But now I wanna dance and shout
I'm jumpin' like a trouser trout
'Cause I found a way to bat it
And make a living at it

Yeah, I got into politics
And I'm never comin' Never comin'
I'm never comin' out

Hello folks!

All but Extras are still sometimes blocked by license class unless they upgrade. That's one reason a call has to be unassigned for two years before it's available to a nonrelative.

> True, and I hadn't considered that when I quickly responded, either. I

I will!

A 'good vanity callsign' is one that the licensee thinks is 'good', for whatever reeason.

Some folks like their initials as part of their callsign.
Some want a callsign as a memorial (W1AW)
Some like the way a certain callsign sounds in Morse Code, or how it can be phoneticized. A callsign with no rhyming or hard-to-distinguish letters could be an advantage on 'phone.

And some have...other reasons. Eye of the beholder and all that.

For me it was the competitive advantage of a short callsign. For 10 years I had a 2x3, and then in 1977 got my current callsign when I relocated. FCC had just changed the rules so that the 1x2s beginning with N were available, but you couldn't pick which one.

As long as you're licensed, you're not completely out of the scene, Kim
- just inactive....>

There's another reason some folks have sour grapes:

For a long time, you could sort-of tell the 'vintage' of an amateur by his/her callsign, because FCC had a fairly predictable way of issuing callsigns, and the vanity program was extremely limited. So you knew that W3ZYX had been a ham a lot longer than WA3IYC, and WA3IYC had been a ham a lot longer than KB3EIA, etc.

When FCC extended and expanded the vanity call program, most of that went away. A ham with a 1x3 starting with W could be a brand new Tech, while a 2x3 starting with WA could be a ham who'd been an Extra for 40+ years. Plus all sorts of variations. So that old system fell apart, and some don't like it.

Good to see you folks here again.

What you dont hear is the stuff the caller said that was tape delayed. He most likely said some swear words or threatening words that were not aired due to tape delay. Oreilly did the right thing by letting the legal dept handle it and not reacting back himself.

Dear Mr. Wiseman,

I find it hard to believe your assertion that this incident of jamming on 20 meters is an isolated occurrence. I have too many complaints on my desk about you for this to be a ï¿½one time affair.ï¿½ I have a strong feeling that this time is not the only time youï¿½ve let your emotions get the better of you and acted out in a juvenile manner. You almost got it correct. Do you spend most of your non-internet time monitoring (but not talking on) the local repeaters?

Don't forget the other revealing gems you've come up with: I worked at Sears in high school and my car is yellow. snicker

Was it ever! Roger Wiseman can't afford to post as himself.

Your internet translator Finnish could use some work. You just can't run two words together and "opettaja" is school teacher or schoolmaster.
It wasn't even a good try, you pathetic lump of defective carbon.

Oddly enough, I've still received no notification of any trespassing charges, nor has my wife's place of employment received any letter.
You're a blowhard, Wiseman.

Who's holding the bet on whether you're a danger to anyone (other than yourself)?

Take the lithium.

Well, thank ya, Jim. I've looked every once in a great while--but just cannot believe the trash now. I mean, some of us used to be bad...but this newsgroup has just gone to hell in a handbasket.

There've even been some times when I haven't seen nearly anyone at all from when I was a regular poster. Who ARE all these folks? <GRIN>

Interestingly enough, (I used to challenge him to post anything intellectual and apart from insulting or higher-than-thou and I never saw him do it) and Dave Heil is one I've seen pretty regularly the last year or so. Still only posting if all he can do is throw insults or act higher-than-thou. Funny.

Anyway, don't know how often I'll be posting. I've pretty much gotten out of the "newsgroup" thingy...whatever that is.

Like the trash talkers on a 2M repeater, it is best to starve them to death by not responding.

Unfortunately, Steve, Dan, and Dave feel compelled to keep inviting more of the same by continually responding to these isiots.

Then there was the Steve/Mark war. Recall Steve, Mark, and Cutie Boy episodes from the late 90s? Well, Mark returned and Steve felt it was necessary to make every post to Mark about sexuality. Not exactly an amateur related topic. Mark finally blew his top after Steve's accusations of rape and pedo activity. Now Steve is in hiding and his apology could have resolved the whole ordeal. But Steve can admit no wrong.

Don't blame you at all for not hanging out here anymore. Stay well. bb

Woger being the mentally unstable twit that he is believes his own lies that any self respecting guy would want to have anything to do with him. Then again when you are a total loser with women like Woger you would prefer men. Why did both of his ex's hit the road. Of course, they wanted nothing to do with a repulsive slime like him. That explains why he moved back with Mommy at the age of 40.

They do, but the problem is there is really nothing they can do, in regards to callers, except cut them off. O'Reiley can make all the feeble threats on the radio or tv he wants, but that's all they are, feeble threats

Speaking of that, have you seen the new question pool for the Technician class license due out July 1 2006?
They may as well just let people buy their license like GMRS.

I have a chicken in my refrigerator that could pass the new test!

I can't wait to see the next rendition of the Tech test. If you can correctly spell your name you pass, and you get as many chances needed.

Oh you can't read? well that's a disability and we must then make accommodations for you like to "tone deaf" people that can't pass the CW test, and waive the requirement. Make your mark (X) here.....

Hi! Excitement!

I've been hiding in the closet for quite some time - but not very successfully.
Everyone seems to guess anyway. Oh well.

I've decided to leap out of the closet this year...

After all it is a leap year!

I've had quite a few gay relationships but they all ended bad, so I decided to stop looking for my special someone and sort of wait for fate to lead us to each other. In the meantime I have been concentrating on my web design work, which I find very interesting; even if I'm not very good.
I still get enough rubes willing to try me. Perhaps because I'm too cheap.

I often think, I would still like a family, a relationship, someone to care for me and me for him. I always say that I want a very traditional marriage, some kids, a car, mortgage and romantic dinners holding hands, except that it will be with a guy, not a girl. I am finding it hard to find someone to givce my fatass the Ramrod. My friends all say I don't try hard enough.

Any now that I can get married in New Paltz in upstate New York I don't even have to go to SanFran.

So ... any ideas? Any of you fags want to get married?

Lloyd Davies TIME LORD AND TALK SHOW HOST

I'm loud and I'm proud. I'm gay and I like it that way!
I support Gay Pride! The Ramrod rocks my ass!

BILLY SMITH STEPS ON HIS OWN DICK THUSLY:

Billy "Dumbass who can't put together a sentence" Smith shows off those English skills, quite ironically in <VfQHf.14581$rH5.8121@newsread2.news.atl.earthlink.net>:
"That's interesting there idiot. I bet you really did flunk high school math and probably elementary too. Oh thats right, wasn't that when was

Billy "retard" Smith confesses to his generally accepted retarded
status in <LwpLf.2321$F56.2317@newsread3.news.atl.earthlink.net>:
"I'm a general retard. bwhahaha"

Billy "spelling champ of the general retards" Smith admits his bad hygiene but is still in denial about his English skills in <QxpLf.2322$F56.1169@newsread3.news.atl.earthlink.net>
"Sure I can spell and smell."

Hi! Excitement!

I've been hiding in the closet for quite some time - but not very successfully.
Everyone seems to guess anyway. Oh well.

I've decided to leap out of the closet this year...

After all it is a leap year!

I've had quite a few gay relationships but they all ended bad, so I decided to stop looking for my special someone and sort of wait for fate
to lead us to each other. In the meantime I have been concentrating on my web design work, which I find very interesting; even if I'm not very good.
I still get enough rubes willing to try me. Perhaps because I'm too cheap.

I often think, I would still like a family, a relationship, someone to care for me and me for him. I always say that I want a very traditional marriage, some kids, a car, mortgage and romantic dinners holding hands,
except that it will be with a guy, not a girl. I am finding it hard to
try hard enough.

Any now that I can get married in New Paltz in upstate New York I don't even have to go to SanFran.

So ... any ideas? Any of you fags want to get married?

Lloyd Davies TIME LORD AND TALK SHOW HOST

I'm loud and I'm proud. I'm gay and I like it that way!
I support Gay Pride! The Ramrod rocks my ass!

I heard a couple weeks ack the arrl claim to know that it wasn't coming for awhile or words to that effect

my guess thought is the R&O will likely be issued between dayton (after dayton) and before the NVEC meeting in late july like the NPRM was. why do this to avoid having to to deal outraged OTs at the FCC forum in dayton

any thoughts

Does that mean I am indeed stalking Lloyd Davies like a psychotic, obsessive asshole?
And here I am, wasting my Tuesday morning on the internet whining like a woman scorned. I need a friend.

Any you should learn to spell like I do. I spell good.

"exaggerarte" Good one.

"eteranl" As in forever?

"ionly" Ions? Lonely? Who knows?

"expossed" Still no spell check.

"workibg" As in working?

"assulted" Darned typos!

"Georgaphy." Georgia on his mind?

"remibndded" It is hard to talk with your mouth full.

"corrpuption" Is that a dog?

"molsetred" Only 2Test knows.

"Whinyng". What?

"Plagairizing". Geesh

"emnpty" The inside of Roger's head.

"rloer" Not sure what Roger means here.

"lilusp" Woger meant to thay lithp.

"poat" Post?

"publich" Public?

"ashamerd"

"agasin". Play it agasin, Sam.

"woamn"

"doens't" Dagnabbit, Timmy.

"hyurt"

"chcienshit" You figure this one out.

"imginary" Hey, Rog. Another typo?

"asck" Sack or ask?

"Ultimte" Hooked on Phonics?

"greade" First or Second?

"attentiopn" Hooked on phonics, are we?

"copuple" Damn. Lloyd moved my keys around again.

"licvense" What Riley makes you retest for.

"havfe" Half? Halve? Have? Who knows.

"Baout" Bout? About?

"unsubstantiateed" It gets better.

"pompousity" Oops! Darn that keyboard, anyway!

"suergery" That is Devry for ya.

"aditting" Darn those typos!

"abckpedals" His greasy hair got in his eyes again

"shreeched" Wasn't he the guy in a sit com? Screech?

"stuid" Pot calling the kettle black?

"heared" That's West Virginia for heard.

"assuslted" Rog just makes em' up as he goes along.

"experieince" Oh, DUH!

"abouve" Is this a French word?

"Cosast" Some place by a body of water?

"mebership", Just a typo, right?

"retqards" Regards or Retards? Who can tell?

"coordinbator" Huh?

"Realy" Really?

"Nitoiced" Keyboard error or stupidity?

Becasue

Licence

Convienince

Myabe

"occurance" Say what?

"srtuggling"

"definatrely"

"delapidated" What a dufus.

"picutre"

"permenatly" Ebonics again?

"Arest" You need a rest, Wogie.

"Sentenceing" No comment.

"Narcotices" What?

"Undre" Is this a city in Germany?

"Surgeoun" And this would be?

"Commuications" Who is laughing at who?

"Ovre" Ovre and out!

"Wondreful" It's a "wondreful" day in the neighborhood?

"Derivitave" Still no spell-checker, eh?

"You lose, shit for brians." Woger showing who real loser is.

"Deisowned" Deis what?

"Deeppest" Roger strikes again.

"Dodgeing". Is he talking about a car?

"Staedy" Steady?

"Linme" Transmission line?

"Getr" Nobody knows.

"Experieince" Wogie is good, ain't he?

"Appropiate" What kind of opiate?

"Laywer" Lay what?

"Visitpors" You never have any, ergo you don't know how to spell it.

"It's "complaintant," you sniveling weasel." (Roger Wiseman on spelling complainant.)

"Irreevant" Good going, Wogie.

"Forwared" Forward HO!

"Glady" Glad Bags?

"Neighborhod" It's a wonderful day in Wogie's neighborhood.

"Mena" Mean? What you mean, Wogie?

"Notr" Not?

"Sassifyed" ALA Rolling Stones.No Sassifaction..

"Fantasises" That is "fantasizes", Wussman.

"Illarate" West BY GOD Virginny!

"Reveresed" Must be one of those off-brand keyboards.

"Soem".as in Some? What a loser.

"VIRIN".What Wogie was before he met the Lavender Lads.

"Minisule".he mussa meant miniscule. Like his IQ.

"Champoin".Whassup, Wiseman? No dictionaries in the mental ward?

"Anoinymous"...a cross between anonymous and annoying?

"Acident" Roger's mom got preggers by accident.

"Alreaedy" Alright, already!

"Amouints" Roger amounts to nothing.

"Aposterphe" This guy is a hoot, ain't he?

"Basios"...word Woger uses when he gets neeeerrrrvous.
"Behing"...a cross between being and behind?

"Coiward" As in peeking from behind his mommy's curtains.
"Feamle"...I think he meant female.
"Losser"...only loser Roger can do it better.
"Ignroant"...typical, considering the source.
"Sluprs"...only Rogie knows what this means.
"Travelled"...a Rogerism, replete with ignorance.
"Postss"...pssst...Roger..that should be Posts.
"Defgenerate"...well, it's Roger's word...
"Faity"...he meant to say Fairy, but you know Roger.

"Ghet" Get a load of Curtain Boy!
"Distribiution"...Roger likes using phonics.
"Biotch"...he meant Bitch, but his phonics took over again.
"Methjadone"...a West Virginia substitute for Heroin.
"Sumbliminal"...one of Roger's favorites.
"Recepticle"...either of Roger's moist cavaties.
"Cociane"...a West Virginia drug of choice?
"Tiome"...Roger meant to say Time...but his fingers were numb.
"Beraking"...no definition. Could mean 'beraking' the leaves,
"Amny"...he meant 'any',
"Nlay"...a town in Maylaysia? Vermont?
"Al;ong"...only Wussman knows what this means.

"Becasu"...well, becasu Roger is not the brightest bulb on the tree.
"Seperation". Why? Because Roger cannot "seperate" from his mommie!
"Sisnce" He meant Since, but his pudgy little fingers slipped off the keys.
"gnetically" What?
"provce" (prove?)
"Piuzza" (West Virginia Pizza)
"Schol" (school?)
"strill" (still?)
"shoitgun" 12 ga or 20 ga?
"Snoip" (How they spell "snip" in Glen Dale)
"Maturbater". Wiseman does it all the time, he just can't spell it.(leaves a sticky residue on his right hand)
"Coskscuking". It's a Roger thing, as in Lavender Lads.
"Waddleing". Only in Glen Dale, eh?
"Spaeaking". Curtain Boy did this after his second retest.

" Stgop" Roger's version of Stop.

"Fahter's" He meant Father's Day.

"fserting"..would that be festering?

"poists". Roger meant "posts".

"snadwich" As in peanut butter and jelly?

"regualr" Glen Dale rendition of "regular".

"aftrer" After? Aftrer what?

"soory". Sorry Roger fucks up again.

"didnb't" He didn't?

"whoile". He ate the whoile thing?

"Woamn" He's hooked on West Virginia phonics, all right.

"prrof" And he kin prove it, too.

"beforfe" Was that before he lurned to spell?

"yoiuy" Roger's version of "y'all".

"illerate" Only illiterate Roger can spell like this.

"haeart" Aw, how heartless of me to laugh!

"valule" Roger has no values. No wonder he can't spell it.

"proch" Doesn't everyone have one on their house?

"inmstitution" Where Roger's mom put him in June 1999.

"timne" It's Howdy Doody time?

"whgo" What? Who dat?

"gnetically" Only Roger knows what this one means.

"crfy" Like, cry, Roger, cry.

"stutrtering" Some stutter, Wiseman stutrters.

"Whjere" Where is Curtain Boy?

"Webiste" That's Website to the rest of us.

"Youire" Your? You're? Who knows.

"fiored" As in fired?

"Parety" Roger gave a party once. Nobody came.

"Bouynce" Bounce?

"Varification" Verifiable mental case.

"Probelms" Poor Rogie.has many problems of the mental sort.

"Partricipate" Oh, DUH!!!!

"Cryed" Gee, Wogie..cry me a river.you dolt!

"Stoick" What a dork. His old 386 has no spell check program.

"Partiall" More WV Phonics, I see.

"Obsucred" Either obscured or Rogie has "sucre" on his mind.

"Infinate" Stupid. Think finite, Rogie.

"Sustinance" As in Sustenance?

"Juvinile". This is the way Roger likes his boys.

"Piut" Put it where, Rogie?

"Toyus". "Toyus R Us?

"Diminuative". Roger's height.

"Definitely" Definitely

"Percriptions" Say what?

"Credibiliy" More Glen Dale intellect.

"Thsoe" Yet another Glen Dale gaffe.

See what my friends think of me?? They like me, huh?

You have an obsession with sucking dicks don't you Wussman? I bet you sit around and sing all day "Wogie has peter on his mind" Perhaps we could make that in a song title for you. Kind of like all of the Xemblionsky hits.

Put a couple of quarters in Wussman's ears and his teeth fold back automatically. It works the same as a slot machine at a casino put a couple quarters in and Wussman's eyes roll around in his pointy little head just like those cherries and casino games. Those teeth still fold back Woger or did your mommy teach you how to pull them out so you can gum the dicks of those winos.

Woger moved back in with mommy at the age of 40.
Because his ex-wives found out he was a fag.

Judging by your belly, Morkie, any stomping done was by you...Unintentionally, I am sure, but heffers such as yourself can't help it.

It's been a great five weeks. Florida...School...Per Diem @ $50/day...

And no Morkie Moron.

This was almost like a Toyota commercial...."Who Could Ask For

Hey Morkie,

Whelp, if I had any questions about your latent desires to get next to me, they were laid (pardon the pun) to rest when I came back in and found tons of messages directed to me by you despite the fact that I told you I was going to be out of pocket for a while. Seems that other than trading "sexaul" barbs with the Whinyslit/Woger/Toiddie set, you've had little else on your feeble mind. As if this was a surprise.

It's been a fun few months watching you dance your little jig, too, Morkie. I guess I shouldn't be TOO surprised, considering your immaturity and propensity to be stupid in the face of efforts to guide you otherwise, by either myself or your Feeble Five cohorts. Pardon yet another pun, but I keep grinding the organ, and you keep up the red-hatted monkey routine. An insult, perhaps, to red-hatted monkeys, but an apt analogy. The response to this post will only validate it again.

I finally figured out WHY you are so adamant to NOT fix your alleged dyslexia, Morkie...If you did, the welfare checks would stop! As long as you can continue to "validate" your "disability", the State of Michigan continues to send you the checks! I guess it's worth it (to you) to be perceived as a functionally illiterate boob just so you can stay at home, stuff your face with hot dogs, beer and chips, and act like a fool in RRAP. If you demonstrated ANY ability to function in society, you'd be forced to get a job! (Check in with Toiddie...He's got a good lead on hot dog kiosks...maybe he can give you some pointers...)

Oh yes, here's "the rest of the story..." An the explanation as to why you refused to tell us when/where you got married...Because you DIDN'T! If you did, "her" income would be taken into account against your welfare checks. So, just as well to shack up and double dip on the welfare!

(Yes, Morkie...I know all about it...Wonder HOW I know...?!?!)

So, Morkie...I'll let you get back to doing what you do best...Act like the idiot you are and get what's coming to you!

Enjoy!

Maybe your parents will let you call down there to see, Toad. I doubt it, after all, they have to pay YOUR bills as well as their own, too. Here's a clue: Roger graduated with an above average GPA (that's over 3.0 for your mentally impaired brain stem) and was a member of his Major's Honor Society. Guess you don't know what the fuck you are talking about, Toad.

becuase fucking is sex, you claim to be male, I am male theirfore it is a homosexaul come on. If one of us were female it would be a heterosexual one, but my remark never mentioned homo or hetero sex just that you are sexualy obessed with me. maybe it is just jealousy

steve you complained abotut he minial volume of message derected at you int your absense

well that was truely nothing

if you are back then back to flaming you

you cans top this at any time by simply agreeing to stop making sexauly bassed attacks to stop involving the families aof poster to stop posting the person info of people to stop threatening to off line attacks on those that disagree with you

No apolgy is required by me, I know you can't apologize for your misdeeds you lack the manhood to do so to rest of the NG (expect mr slit) I apologize for feeling the need to resume the flame war

everyone should be advised that The following person has been advocating the abuse of elders making false charges of child rape, rape in general forges post and name

he may also be making flase reports of abusing other in order to attak and cow his foes
he also shows signs of being dangerously unstable

he regualrly makes threats of aresst or of the power to confine folks againsthere will

he is lying of course

Poor faggot Toad, still trying to stay in the closet. You are the homosexual.
And, get help for your English impairment, community college drop out.

Yes, Toad, it is.
Speaking of he/she's "Billy", are you still posting those shemale pictures you love so much on your blogs, FAGGOT?

Only a freaking MORON would ask if someone else was "this stupid" with words so obviously mispelled that any 3rd grader would beat his head against the wall wondering how the author ever made it past puberty.

Morkie, you really are a piece of work...

Sure.

Just take a pencil, and where it says "50 Mhz" on the front panel, write in "27 Mhz". Everyone knows that all linear amplifiers work equally well on all bands and that suggesting otherwise is just a market ploy to get people to buy more boxes.

Don't forget to drive it with your "tweaked" Galaxy, Connex or other "import" radio with the mic gain at 100%, fed with a pre-amplified microphone. And remember to tune for >>>MAX<<< SWR, >>>NOT<<< minimum.

And remember to use the international test calling signal:

"AWWWWWWWWWWW-DE-OOOOOOOOOOOOOOOH..."

"AWWWWWWWWWWW-DE-OOOOOOOOOOOOOOOH..."

The "real" Steve didn't.

The question should be: "Why did Mork go back on his promise to abide by this even after the REAL Steve said he'd go along too, and DID...?!?!"

And the NEXT question should be "Why did Mork Moron even THINK that the REAL Steve wrote this, considering the language therein and the failed headers?"

Answer? Because Mork Moron is a lying, deceitful, unethical toad unworthy of even the most miniscule of respect.

Pretty simple.

You'll probably need to add inductance, maybe reduce capacitance in

To lower frequency from 50MHz to 27MHz you need and / or bigger inductance and bigger capacitance.

Fine candidate for A ham license we have here.

Lift the lid on the Isuzu, place the CB radio on top of the battery, then, with a 15 pound sledge hammer, hit the top of the CB as hard as you can, impaling the CB on the battery terminals. This will connect the CB to the battery for you. Good connection too. Might be some sparking.

nope i have em up

but you can't make stop being me

the only that would have a chance is to come ere and kill me

One I don't think you could find the place tow, you clearly lack the guts to try?

three you might even have the good sense not do, but I am unsure

I would try to get by with the existing variable caps at the early stage until you have got the thing sort of working. There may be a small tuned input circuit or there may be a passive resistor. To start, I would double the number of turns in the tank circuit of the final and in the input coil (if any) and tune the variable caps to see if there is any output. I used to use a light bulb to coax fitting to look at how close I was getting to resonance. Remember there is a lot of voltage on the final so discharge the power supply caps through a 100 ohm or so resistor each time you fiddle. This amp may be grid-driven so keep the tests very short to avoid burning up the grids. There are ways of getting the coil/capacitor values correct without using the final voltage if you let any of the smoke leak out of the resistors.

Hell, I'd just keep adding turns until the dingus quits shutting down.
Sniff for parasitics, adds caps as necessary.

Sure.

Just take a pencil, and where it says "50 Mhz" on the front panel, write in "27 Mhz". Everyone knows that all linear amplifiers work equally well on all bands and that suggesting otherwise is just a market ploy to get people to buy more boxes.

Don't forget to drive it with your "tweaked" Galaxy, Connex or other "import" radio with the mic gain at 100%, fed with a pre-amplified microphone. And remember to tune for >>>MAX<<< SWR,

>>>NOT<<< minimum.

And remember to use the international test calling signal:

IF CBers had a bit of discipline, courtesy, and knew more, as a whole, what they are doing, the noise could be decreased by quite a bit! ?But NO! ?EVERYbody has to have an amp to talk 2 miles down the road, or to the next truck right in front of him. ?Before the 70s, I used to lay on my bed with a BACK OF SET Radio Shack antenna and a Raytheon 5-channel CB and talk in a 5-8 mile radius. ?We had a regular round table most every night. ?Everybody was courteous, took turns, didn't use power, and we had no trouble talking--even when that roaring skip was in we could talk over it because those people weren't using extra power, either. ?When the BIG AMPS came along to replace self confidence lost I-don't-know-where, you couldn't talk a mile away. ?Now, more than ever, there are operators who think THEY have to out-talk the rest in order to feel powerful and replace the "leaking" testosterone. ?Hey, I don't have a magic answer because you and I both know that it \won't stop without some serious enforcement. ?It still boils down, nonetheless, to the fact that those truckers have those 40 channels that they can use legally. ?The hams have the 10 Meter band via licensure. ?It STILL isn't the hams' fault that those channels are screwed up, nor does it justify stealing frequencies from the rightful users--whether they are occupied or not.

I do have something of a solution, but nobody would like it. Put CB up on FRS and MURS where there is little occasion for skip, and the truckers wouldn't be bothered with all that noise. Form associations and use voluntary bandplans to separate users, so that interfer ence would be kept to a minimum. Yeah, we know that wouldn't be met with joy, don't we? We want to work "DX", play with BIG POWER, and complain about how we can't talk without our amp.
I don't mean to be ugly, but that's what it amounts to. Really, you can't have it both ways! That is truly what needs to happen; because the general public is NOT radio savvy, VHF/UHF is where CB needs to be to prevent all those "turf" wars, skip, and racket. It WOULD make a difference. Not likely to happen soon. Still, never say never.....

FIRST OFF, the FCC can't fine over copyrights. They the wrong agency.

SECOND OFF, there no such thing as pissant. When I was a little kid I thouht that because when I pissed in basement floor drain we would get ants and I thought they pissants. My daddy (who you know as "Jimmy D") finally tell me there no such thing as pissant when I turn 30.

SO ... FCC not going to fine some damn pissant for copyright violation DUMBASS! You idoits amaze me sometime.

First off dipshit, it's not libel, it only libel if it is not true....truth be known there are sites on blogger.com (which is owned by google) has material on there sites that belongs to me and those person(s) is using that material without my permission and since googles does not want to remove it they are in violation of Section 512 of the DMCA. So lloyd if they remove my site I WILL sue!

it is the only proble m youd have in suing him (two prblem first is proving the id of the poster) is proving that you were damaged by the slander. that porblm proving that you are damaged in the OFFLINE world is hard and is the only reason Robeson hasn't been sued by me

Why would you want to? A good 6M AMp is worth far more than a good buddy amp. Hell, if it's in good working condition, I'd trade a 250 Watt Solid State good buddy amp for it in a heartbeat!

I don't make "sexauly bassed attacks". You do.

And you can stop fantasizing about how you're going to make other motive.

You're just a punk who likes to see his own name on the board

Sure an apology is required by you...To everyone ELSE on this NG who can't use it because of you.

More hallucinations.

You never stopped, ergo to claim you are "resum(ing)" is false.

Nope. Hasn't been my home number for quite a while. You've been told this over and over. Anyone who cares to dial it knows you are an idiot to the nth power since that's how many times you've recited it.

STILL an idiot! Same off-target silliness!

But keep thumbing through the phonebook, Morkie!

Mork, just when I think it's not possible for you to be a bigger idiot, you amaze me with yet another example!

Nope.

Morkie, I don't find it necessary to respond to each-and-every post you make.

I know you're a liar...Everyone in this NG knows you're a liar.
You've admitted to being a liar.

You're a sexual deviate, a pedophile and "married" to a man.

You're a humiliation to yourself, your family, and Amateur Radio.

In short, you're a putz.

Forget it, Scott...Morkie is drawing welfare for a "disability", and any demonstration that he can do something to overcome his "disability" means he'd have to come off welfare and get a real job.

He DOES claim an IQ of 248, though...Makes ya wonder what all that Tood, I'd be sweating just a little if I were you. The Justice Department has just published a release which is partially quoted below. Notice that one of the counts upon which Whorley was convicted was the possession of anime cartoons which depicted children engaged in sex acts.

Those cartoons are identical to what you are making available to the public with your own home-hosted web board. Sweat, Tood, sweat ...

"RICHMOND, Va., March 10 /U.S. Newswire/ -- Dwight Whorley, 52, of Richmond, Virginia has been sentenced to 240 months imprisonment on child pornography charges, Acting Deputy Attorney General and United States Attorney for the Eastern District of Virginia Paul J. McNulty and Assistant Attorney General for the Criminal Division Alice S. Fisher today announced.

"Whorley was convicted on November 30, 2005, after a four-day jury trial, of using a public computer at a Virginia Employment Commission ("VEC") office on March 30, 2004, to receive 20 obscene Japanese anime cartoons that graphically depicted prepubescent female children being forced to engage in sexual intercourse with adult males. Whorley was convicted under a new federal statute enacted in 2003 that criminalizes the production, distribution, or receipt of, or the possession with intent to distribute obscene drawings, cartoons, sculptures, paintings or any other obscene visual representation of the sexual abuse of children. Whorley's conviction for receiving cartoons is the first conviction under the statute that was not based on actual photographs of children. ..."

> brammage and igornance.

For those of you just getting to know "Mark Morgan, KB9RQZ" via his spamming and cross-posting of RRAP and other "rec.radio" groups, a little intro is due.

Mark started in here about 8 years ago with his functionally illiterate diatribes, mostly trying to get support for his "waivers" for Morse Code due to alleged neurological deficits, among which he alledges being "dyslexic".

The problem is Morkie tried to get an allergist to write his "waiver" for him. After having claimed an IQ of over 240, one has to wonder on what two fingers he added that up on. It was suggested he see a neurologist, but like every attempt to help him, he told those who suggested it to get ####ed.

On finding out that I was an enlisted retiree from the USMC, Morkie started in on tales of how >>>HE<<< was not only an officer, but a COLONEL in the US Army "chemical corps", and that he was DRAFTED ta-boot!...As if that meant a rat's pack of snot in this forum!

Of course Morkie didn't count on anyone actually being able to do math better than he...You see, based upon his birthday (which was once in QRZ), Morkie would have only been SEVEN years old when the drafted ENDED in the United States...

Anyone seeing a pattern here?

When he was busted with this fact, he then relented and "admitted" that he was "only" a lieutenant, but that his unit CO wouldn't let him resign even though he's an admitted sexual deviate. Of course he's since changed even THAT story, and he now tells a tale of how he was an enlisted clerk in the Army, discharged for emotional problems.

Yeah...Right. A "clerk" who can't even SPELL "clerk"... ! ! ! !

Over the past several years, Morkie has alternatively denied being a mental health patient, then admitted that he's being treated for "anger issues". He's also lied about being in trouble with the law...You see, Markie likes to "care" for his elderly father by taking advantage of him, then skirting the law. It's been a close shave.

Now Morkie's moved from his previous QTH in south-central Illinois to the Michigan Upper Penninsula in order to (A) avoid the aforementioned abuse issues, and to (B) take advantage of more lenient welfare laws that allow him to pork out at home while allowing you and I to "earn" his income for him.

Among his many NG credits are his claims of being stalked, his admission (and only redeeming attribute) that he not only lies, but does so without moral reservation, and that he believes that children should be TAUGHT to lie.

Morkie now "claims" to be married, but can't seem to produce any evidence of it, other than to point to the recent licensure of a female-sounding named person who shares his POB in Chassell, Michigan.

Oh yeah...His "wife"...Allegedly a law clerk or paralegal of some sort, they were allegedly married in Israel. No doubt a green card scam if they are indeed "married". Obviously she doesn't care enough about him to take his name, even to have it hyphenated with hers.

So ...for those of you just tuning in, sit back and enjoy the flailings of Mark C. "I Am A Drafted Gay Pagen Chemical Corps Officer" Morgan.

He never disappoints!

For those of you just getting to know "Mark Morgan, KB9RQZ" via his spamming and cross-posting of RRAP and other "rec.radio" groups, a little intro is due.

Mark started in here about 8 years ago with his functionally
illiterate diatribes, mostly trying to get support for his "waivers"
for Morse Code due to alleged neurological deficits, among which he alledges being "dyslexic".

The problem is Morkie tried to get an allergist to write his
"waiver" for him. After having claimed an IQ of over 240, one has to wonder on what two fingers he added that up on. It was suggested he see a neurologist, but like every attempt to help him, he told those who suggested it to get ####ed.

On finding out that I was an enlisted retiree from the USMC, Morkie started in on tales of how >>>HE<<< was not only an officer, but
a COLONEL in the US Army "chemical corps", and that he was DRAFTED
ta-boot!...As if that meant a rat's pack of snot in this forum!

Of course Morkie didn't count on anyone actually being able to do
math better than he...You see, based upon his birthday (which was once in QRZ), Morkie would have only been SEVEN years old when the drafted ENDED in the United States...

Anyone seeing a pattern here?

When he was busted with this fact, he then relented and "admitted" that he was "only" a lieutenant, but that his unit CO wouldn't let him resign even though he's an admitted sexual deviate. Of course he's since changed even THAT story, and he now tells a tale of how he was an enlisted clerk in the Army, discharged for emotional problems.

Yeah...Right. A "clerk" who can't even SPELL "clerk"... ! ! ! !

Over the past several years, Morkie has alternatively denied being a mental health patient, then admitted that he's being treated for "anger issues". He's also lied about being in trouble with the law...You see, Markie likes to "care" for his elderly father by taking advantage of him, then skirting the law. It's been a close shave.

Now Morkie's moved from his previous QTH in south-central Illinois to the Michigan Upper Penninsula in order to (A) avoid the aforementioned abuse issues, and to (B) take advantage of more lenient welfare laws that allow him to pork out at home while allowing you and I to "earn" his income for him.

Among his many NG credits are his claims of being stalked, his admission (and only redeeming attribute) that he not only lies, but does so without moral reservation, and that he believes that children should be TAUGHT to lie.

Morkie now "claims" to be married, but can't seem to produce any evidence of it, other than to point to the recent licensure of a female-sounding named person who shares his POB in Chassell, Michigan.

Oh yeah...His "wife"...Allegedly a law clerk or paralegal of some

First off the PROTECT ACT and it partner COPPA (Child Obscenity Pornography Prevention Act) are unconstitutional, these laws were passed after the US Supreme Court struck down the CPPA (Child Pornography Prevention Act of 1996) and these laws are vary similar to the law that was struck down. Last time I heard these laws were being challenged in court, by the ACLU. Those two laws are so unconstitutional it not even funny
As for Whorely, Mr Whorely was just released from prision and was on probabtion, he had been found guilty of possession of child porn twice before the time mentioned above. So the violated he probabtion and it was basically three strikes and your out type of deal. You can more information about that here:

Anime is accually from what I've heard at the very bottom of the Amps, whether certified or not will end up as they always do,,,,,,used on 11 meter and the freeband in addition to the hammie bands, regardless of what the FCC does or doesn't do.

Haven't had much luck on triple five lately,,,you been sandbaggin there lately? Most of my action has come from ssb recently. Send me an email and let me know next time you're working some dx near Dixie. Take it light and try to fly under the radar.

K1MAN EDITORIAL - ED060316A -

K3VR IS A HYPOCRITE

Old Brian holds himself out to be an A-1 amateur radio operator. But his reaction to a legitimate complaint* regarding criminal amateur radio interference by, for example, KZ8O (former ND8V), is not outrage against KZ8O but rather outrage against the station interfered with, K1MAN. Interesting! Brian has just totally destroyed his claimed amateur radio credibility.

Brian is a staunch supporter of ARRL. KZ8O is a staunch supporter of ARRL. ARRL is silent on this issue. The FCC, so far, is silent on this issue. Do you see a pattern here? Interesting!

It looks like Brian is not much of a ham after all. He is more interested in "nailing" K1MAN for something, anything, rather than FCC rules or United States law. Or, Brian is just plain stupid!

Brian is not THAT stupid. He is simply acting like a spoiled kid in kindergarten. His juvenile emotions simply over ride his adult intelligence; often seen with kids in school. Get a grip, Brian! You usually make a total fool of yourself. ARRL and the FCC are not very far behind!

FORMAL FELONY COMPLAINT

In the matter of

Glenn A. Baxter, P.E., K1MAN
Registered Professional Engineer Licensee of Amateur Radio Station K1MAN against

Michael E. Guernsey, Sr.
Licensee of Amateur Radio Station KZ8O

Complainant, Glenn A. Baxter, P.E., K1MAN, hereby makes this affidavit from his own personal knowledge and says that:

Complainant began his amateur information bulletin service at 1400 UTC on the clear frequency, 14.275 MHz., on 13 March 2006. On or before 1544 UTC, amateur radio operator Michael E. Guernsey, Sr., KZ8O, caused intentional interference to amateur radio station K1MAN in criminal violation of federal law, namely Sections 333 and 501 of the 1934 Communications Act:

Section 333:

No person shall willfully or maliciously interfere with or cause interference to any radiocommunications or any station licensed or authorized by or under this act or operated by the United States government.

Section 501:

Any person who willfully and knowingly does or causes or suffers to be done any act, matter or thing, in this Act prohibited or declared to be unlawful, or who willfully or knowingly omits or fails to do any act, matter or thing in this Act required to be done, or willfully or knowingly causes or suffers such omission or failure, shall, upon conviction thereof, be punished for such offense, for which no penalty (other than a forfeiture) is provided by this Act, by a fine of not more than $10,000 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding two years or both.

At 1546 UTC K1MAN changed transmitting frequency to 14.272 MHz. to get away from this criminal radio interference.

And was this "information bulletin" one of the following?:

o ARNewsline
o the Rain Report
o the HandiHam newsletter
o the ARRL letter
o This Week in Amateur Radio

If it wasn't, it was probably another one of Glenn's self-aggrandizing broadcasts.
As you know, one-way broadcasts are verboten on amateur radio. (Sec. 97.113(3)(5b))

You are hearing voices again? You sure don't know what "slander" means, Toad. If it's written, it's libel, you clueless Taylorville twat.

No where in the FCC rules does it state that an Information bulletin has to be a newscast. All those you mentioned are newscast. The rules only state it has to be "solely of subject matter of interest to the amateur radio service" (see below)

97.3 Definitions
(a) The definitions of terms used in Part 97 are:

(25) Information bulletin. A message directed only to amateur operators consisting solely of subject matter of direct interest to the amateur service.

§97.111 Authorized transmissions.

(b) In addition to one-way transmissions specifically authorized elsewhere in this Part, an amateur station may transmit the following types of one-way communications:

(6) Transmissions necessary to disseminate information bulletins;

It's funny that people only read 97.113 and not the rest of the rules including the definition

(10) Broadcasting. Transmissions intended for reception by the general public, either direct or relayed.

If the transmission is directed to the general public it's a broadcast, if it's directed to the amateur service and consist solely of subject matter of a direct interest to the amateur radio service then it's legal.

Sure, I'll take some of that bet. Who's holding the stakes, UnWiseman? Is it you, your imaginary friend, this "markie" sock puppet, the "Whinyslit", your "George Orwell" persona or is it "N0VFP"?

I'm stating here and now that Big Bad Roger Wiseman is a danger to no one. He's busy pulling the blinds down and hiding behind his door, just as he hides behinds Google and anonymous remailers.

By the way, my wife's place of employment has received your letter and placed it in the nut file. Store security has been informed. It looks like none of your malicious deeds carry any weight, UnWiseman.

When do you think I might be informed of your "charges" by local law enforcement, nutball?

You keep underestimating people.

Sure you will, you can't even afford a decent TV, and have yours underneath some broken down stairs. And, nice to see you lied about your ex-streetwalker's employer receiving the letter you said wasn't mailed. I doubt they put it any "nut file" that's more lies on your part. And if Roger has a problem with store "security" well, that store better get a good laywer team together.

Maniac

(Michael Sembello/??)

Just a small town ham on a Thursday night
Lookin' for the fight of his life
In the real-time world no one believes him at all
They all say Dave's crazy

Posting insults in a beat of his heart
Changing cyberspace into life
He has danced in rec.radio.amateur.policy
Then a dancer becomes the netcop of the "velley"

Posts can cut you like a knife
If they're about your Finnish ex-whore wife
On a wire between will and what will be

He's a maniac, maniac at your door
And he's whining like he's never whined before
He's a maniac, maniac at your door
At the behest of his Finnish ex-whore

On the internet sanity is a place Dave never sees
It's a hard cold place of mystery
He can read it, but he can't control it

You work all your life for that moment in time
It could come or pass you by It's out of band, but there's always a chance
If Dave's delusions stays the night

There's a cold connective heat, Struggling, stretching for defeat
Never stopping with his head up his fat ass

He's a maniac, maniac, I sure know
And he's whining when you don't answer the door
He's a maniac, maniac, I sure know
And he's whining on the newsgroups like never before

Posts can cut you like a knife
Especially ones about your Finnish ex-whore wife

No where in the FCC rules does it state that an Information bulletin has to be a newscast. All those you mentioned are newscast. The rules
amateur radio service" (see below)

97.3 Definitions
(a) The definitions of terms used in Part 97 are:

(25) Information bulletin. A message directed only to amateur operators consisting solely of subject matter of direct interest to the amateur service.

97.111 Authorized transmissions.

(b) In addition to one-way transmissions specifically authorized elsewhere in this Part, an amateur station may transmit the following types of one-way communications:

(6) Transmissions necessary to disseminate information bulletins;

It's funny that people only read 97.113 and not the rest of the rules
including the definition

(10) Broadcasting. Transmissions intended for reception by the general public, either direct or relayed.

If the transmission is directed to the general public it's a broadcast, if it's directed to the amateur service and consist solely of subject matter of a direct interest to the amateur radio service then it's legal.

"solely of subject matter interest to the amateur radio service."
Broadcasts of, by, about, from, and to K1MAN are of no interest to anyone but K1MAN.

These so called "FORMAL FELONY COMPLAINTs" are totally bogus!
K1MAN has no authority to so.
Read what the FCC had to say about this back in 2001:
December 11, 2001

Mr. Glenn A. Baxter
RR 1 Box 776
Belgrade Lakes, ME 04918

RE: Warning Notice--Amateur Radio license K1MAN
Dear Mr. Baxter:

The Commission has information that you have sent numerous so-called "Standard Felony Complaint Affidavits" to various Amateur Radio licensees that you perceive to either cause interference to your Amateur Radio station K1MAN or do not relinquish to you the frequency on which they are operating. Inasmuch as you have successfully completed an examination for an Amateur Radio license, you should be aware that all Amateur frequencies are shared. You have no greater rights whatsoever to an Amateur Radio frequency than any other Amateur Radio operator.

We also note that on January 5, 1994, the United States Attorney for your jurisdiction, Jay P. McCloskey, warned you about the mailing of such "Standard Felony Complaint Affidavits" and stated:

DO NOT send any more Standard Felony Complaint Affidavits to our office. The interference you allege, even if intentional, is not a federal criminal offense over which our office has prosecutorial jurisdiction.
The letter from United States Attorney McCloskey also referenced letters that you had sent other Amateur operators alerting them of supposed criminal charges instituted by McCloskey's office. In his letter to you, McCloskey stated:

It is against the law to write and mail this type of threatening communication, especially when it has no basis in fact. If you continue sending this type of letter, you may be subject to federal criminal charges for misrepresentation and for using the mails to make threats. You may also jeopardize your Amateur license.

You are advised that any attempts to threaten or intimidate Amateur Radio licensees operating on the Amateur bands will reflect adversely upon your qualifications to remain a Commission licensee, and will be the subject of a license revocation or renewal hearing.

Radio, lets see, echolink (AM) or skype (FM) with video tonight...
My biggest complaint about echolink is that all the calls with a 3 in them are grouped together, even if the 3 call is not in 3 land.
There needs to be an update that allows one to designate which area they're really in. I can't stand seeing FL, CA and HI and can't find the ones that have moved here and kept their 2 or 9 call.

I don't excercise any trouble to collect mail from addresses unknown to

Sorry, your information is incorrect. I have no broken down stairs. How's that career as a repeater lurker working out for you? You'd be amazed how often your name comes up, UnWiseman.

No lie at all. You were discussed before the arrival of your poison missive. The employer knows what and who you are.

That "store" already has such a team. They own the property on which the store sits. It isn't owned by the mall. They can ask anyone to leave at any time. They've done so before. There is no reason to believe that they won't do so again. There is one easy way for you to test it: Walk in and attempt harassment of my wife.

You continue to underestimate people.

> Sure you will, you can't even afford a decent TV...

I have a very nice television, UnWiseman--more than one in fact. You can save that information with the info that I worked at Sears during high school, forty years ago and that my car is yellow.

> and have yours
> underneath some broken down stairs.

Sorry, your information is incorrect. I have no broken down stairs.
How's that career as a repeater lurker working out for you? You'd be amazed how often your name comes up, UnWiseman.

> And, nice to see you lied about

I didn't lie at all, you demented little man. I just wrote about it.

> I doubt they put it any "nut file" that's more lies on your > part.

No lie at all. You were discussed before the arrival of your poison missive. The employer knows what and who you are.

> And if Roger has a problem with store "security" well, that store

That "store" already has such a team. They own the property on which the store sits. It isn't owned by the mall. They can ask anyone to leave at any time. They've done so before. There is no reason to believe that they won't do so again. There is one easy way for you to test it: Walk in and attempt harassment of my wife.

You continue to underestimate people.

Many of us are aware of the dissention that Woger Wussman foments against not only Dave, but also Mark, Todd, and others , so I have this question.
Since Woger feels it necessary to stalk all of the above, to look into who lives where, and even check out the local bus stations near one's home, why not look into where Woger works and post it?
Woger does seem to have more time on his hands than most as evidenced by his more than 700 posts in February 2006 alone. Obviously, judging by the time stamps, Roger has more weekdays off than weekends. Fast Order cook, anyone?

I will send a prepaid gift certificate for six deluxe family size pizzas with unlimited toppings and six two liter bottles of the soft drink of choice if someone can "spill the beans" as to where Woger allegedly works.

Heck...I will even be generous enough to send free pizzas to Woger's place of employment.

If Woger can stalk and post the work places of others, well, is it not time for payback?

A necessary preface.....

(It is becoming increasingly difficult to fly the flag for decency and for civilised behaviour in Radio Hammery. Even the Usenet newsgroups dedicated to the cause have degenerated into a hotbed of abusive onslaughts by those who ought to know better; the Nugatory Numpties who boast of an interest exceeding 10, 20, 30, 40 or even 50 years and yet who have proved themselves incapable of even meeting the trivial exam standards set for 6-year-olds. However, there still exists the fundamental basis on which Ham Radio is based, and that will never die. This FAQ ("What Is Ham Radio?") will be regularly published and will not be shouted or bullied down. It is important that those of a technical bent, who are the natural seed-corn of Radio Hammery and who gravitate towards us to be the real novitiate, can still find us, (and know that we are still here), their fellows.)

-----ooooo-----

So,.....What is Ham Radio?

Ham Radio is a technical pursuit for those who are interested in the science of radio wave
propagation and who are also interested in the way that their radios function. It has a long-standing tradition of providing a source of engineers who
are born naturals.

Ham Radio awakens in its aficionados a whole-life
fascination with all things technical and gives
an all-abiding curiosity to improve one's scientific knowledge. It's a great swimming pool, please dive in!

This excitement causes a wish to share the experience
with ones fellow man, and shows itself in the gentlemanly traditions of Ham Radio.

Radio Hams are in a unique privileged position in that they can construct and operate their own equipment! No-one else has this privilege. Users, such as broadcasters,
the po lice and armed farces, CBers and mobile phone users have to purchase ready-made gear. Manufacturers are not licensed to operate their gear. Radio Hams
are qualified to design, build and then

operate their own pieces of equipment. They do this
with gusto, and also repair and modify their own equipment. This is a privilege well worth the effort to gain, and one to be jealously guarded.

The excitement that drives a Radio Ham starts with relatively simple technologies at first, perhaps making his own Wimshurst machine and primary cells. Small pieces
of test equipment follow, possibly multimeters and signal generators. Then comes receivers and transmitters. It is with the latter that communication with like-minded technically motivated people takes off. The scope for technical development grows with the years
and now encompasses DSP and DDS. There is also a great deal of excitement in the areas of computer programming to
be learnt and applied.

The technical excitement motivates Radio Hams to compete with each other to determine who has designed and manufactured
the best-quality station. This competitiveness is found in DXing, competitions and fox-hunts.

-----OOOOO----

However, beware! A Ham Radio licence is such a desirable thing to have that there are large numbers of people who wish to be thought of
as Radio Hams when, in fact, they are nothing of the kind! Usually such people are a variation of the CB Radio hobbyist; they buy their radios off the shelf and send them back to be repaired; they are not interested in technical discussion
and sneer at those who are; they have no idea how their radios work inside and have no wish to find out;
they are free with rather silly personal insults.

These CB types engage in the competitive activities
with their Cheque-Book-purchased off-the-shelf radios
in a forlorn effort to prove that they are Radio Hams.

No _REAL_ Radio Hams are deceived by such people!

-----ooooo-----

One infallible way to disambiguate the CB Radio Hobbyist
from the _REAL_ Radio Ham is to solicit their view of the difference between CB Radio and Ham Radio. A Radio Ham will perceive Ham Radio to be a technical pursuit and will perceive CB Radio to be a social communications facility
no different in essence to a land-line telephone or a GSM mobile in the hands of a 6-year-old. Thus a Radio Ham could also hold a CB licence safe in the knowledge that such a licence says no more about him than having a land-line

telephone, whilst continuing to regard Ham Radio as a separate technical pursuit.

A CB Radio hobbyist, on the other hand, sees no difference between a Ham Radio licence and a CB Radio licence. To him, they are sisters-under-the-skin. Wrongly, the CB Radio Hobbyist then tries to classify himself as the equal of the Radio
Ham when, in fact, he is nothing of the kind.

Ham Radio is not CB Radio and has no common ground with it!
Ham Radio is _THE_ technical pursuit for gentlemen; CB Radio is the operating hobby for those who buy their rigs and equipment off the shelf.

-----ooooo-----

If you are the sort of person who is motivated by a technical interest in how things work; if you took apart malfunctioning clocks, toasters and the like and put them right despite never having seen them working, then a Ham Radio licence is your traditional route! There has never been a shortage of such people, and those who gravitate towards such an interest have always been welcomed into our shacks and their interests fostered. There is not today, nor has there ever been, a need to go out and encourage and press children, children who have never expressed an interest in Ham Radio, to come into our shacks. Such an activity should cause eyebrows to be raised - what normal well-adjusted adults seek the social acquaintance of children?!

-----ooooo-----

Please remember that this FAQ is a _POSITIVE EXHORTATION_
to you to exert yourselves to join our fraternity! (If you find otherwise, then perhaps you are already classing yourself in the mediocre groups of those who are criticised in the FAQ and from whom we _MUST_ dissociate? If so - it's never too late for a re-taxonomisation on your part - there's nothing elitist about us, and we welcome all those who are prepared to put themselves
out in order to join our ranks!)

I love to pop my pimples
It's what I like to do
I love to pop my pimples
As I drink my Mountain Dew

People always tease me
About my zit filled face
They say I make them queasy
It makes me feel out of place

I love to squeeze my pimples
and when the pus is about to explode
I aim it at mean people
and laugh and yell,"Here, have a pus load"

I love to pop my pimples
It's what I like to do
It really helps pass the time
at my job in fast food

If a customer is mean to me
I know exactly how to get him back
I pop one of my many pimples
some special sauce for his Big Mac

So if you are ever mean
Remember the words that I have said
Because this zit faced loser
will pop some pus toward your head

Then pop the boil on my butt
and squeeze out all the pus

I like to blow my nose on my sleeve
I like to cough up mucous and phlem
I like to do this in front of strangers
Then I like to stare at them

I like to take a dump

Are you saying Len Anderson is as stupid as you are? He certainly can tell as many lies.

> and one person breaks your claim of everyone so you just lied some more

But Len Anderson didn't say it, stupid, you did.

Can't he speak for himself? Or are you just telling more lies?

That makes no sense at all, dumbass. And Bile's stupid little names show how limited his obtuse thinking really is.

More lies. Too bad that repeater you use is on Echolink, eh? Your lies get exposed to everybody.

That little yellow Dodge Neon? BWHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHA!
The one with the bent fenders?

What most people call broken down you call "rustic".

How's that career as a courier working out for you? Putting many more miles on that crappy yellow Dodge Neon then the over 100,000 miles when you bought it?

And you continue to lie. The only time Wiseman's name is brought up is by you.

That's all you do is lie, you balding obssesed son of a bitch. You wrote that no lettrer was sent. Now you change your story.

Yes, you claimed he didn't mail a letter at all. And the only discussion was made after they recevied that letter.

Looks like they know what you and your Finnish ex-whore does, too. I wonder if corporate offices would take the same view as you do in your lies about it.

More Heil lies. They lease the property from the mall.

<guffaw> You are rather obtuse, you stupid son of a bitch. Roger would just have to walk in and let your Finnish ex whore go off on him. He wouldn't have to do a thing. Then, I wonder what the District Manager would do when he found out about it if the store manager didn't fire your works for commission only wife.
